Rhodes Schedules Speech On Budget For Jan. 12

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes will deliver his State of the State message to a joint legislative session on Jan. 12, a date chosen in deference to lawmakers' "scheduling considerations," the governor said.

Rhodes abruptly Thursday moved the speech up a week hours after requesting speaking time on Jan. 18, two days before the inauguration of President-elect Carter.

"We're going the last mile," Rhodes said at a hastily-called news conference. "We don't want to inconvenience the General Assembly." "I think there is a new spirit of cooperation," the Republican

Food Supply Outlook Questionable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although world grain supplies have increased because of good harvests the past year, they still are not large enough to assure ample food supplies in the future, says a senior Agriculture Department official.

By next summer world grain stocks, excluding those in the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China, will be up sharply from a year or two ago but still will be less than they were in 1969, according to Assistant Secretary Richard E. Bell.

Further, Bell said Thursday, the world's population and per capita food demands have risen in the past eight years.

"In terms of today's population and consumption, next summer's world grain stocks do not look nearly so large," Bell said.

For example, he said, next summer's supply of wheat, corn and so-called other "coarse" grains, and rice will be equivalent to about 13 per cent of this year's consumption of those grains. In 1969, world grain reserves equaled almost 20 per cent of annual consumption.

Bell's comments were made in a speech at a United Egg Producers management conference in Longboat Key, Fla., and later distributed here.

The world supply of wheat has shown the most striking increase, largely because of bumper 1976 harvests in the United States, the Soviet Union and some other major producing countries.

governor added. "We're working for the same taxpayers."

Majority Democratic leaders had discussed recessing the week of Jan. 16 because of Martin Luther King Day on Monday and the inauguration on Thursday of the same week. But a House spokesman said a final decision had not been reached.

After receiving word that the House and Senate would be in session the week of the inauguration, Rhodes said he asked for the 18th, but then "learned" that a recess was planned. It was not clear who told Rhodes the legislature would not be in session the week of Jan. 16.

The governor said he changed the date "because I wish to cooperate with the General Assembly in its scheduling considerations and do not wish to bring the members' back for the sole purpose of the speech."

A somewhat puzzled House speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said Democrats had agreed to Rhodes' first request to speak, only to receive a second letter changing the date. The new date was then agreed to, Riffe said. "All I do is answer my mail," he added when asked about the confusion.

Fifteen state legislators, including several Republicans, are expected to travel to Washington at state expense for the inauguration. A number of other lawmakers will likely make the trip at their own expense.

The curious chain of events surrounding the governor's speech was an ironic follow-up to Rhodes' last request to address a joint session of the Democratic-dominated legislature in September. After considerable sparring, Democratic leaders refused to grant Rhodes a legislative forum, out of fear that he would make a pre-election "political speech."

The governor then delivered an attack on Democrats in an unprecedented speech in the rotunda of the Statehouse.

But it was a subdued Rhodes, who, apparently by his own volition, changed the date of his speech on Thursday, saying he believed the original date "would be an inconvenience to them."

The speech itself will touch on a new two-year executive spending plan for Ohio, Budget Director William W. Wilkins said. But the Rhodes administration fiscal officer said the actual budget bill would not be ready until later in the month.

Ford Knows Recommendations Will Die

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's farewell agenda is marked not for passage but for posterity, and he has no illusions about the fate of the proposals he is bequeathing to the government he soon will leave.

Still, in the last days of his presidency, Ford is making for the record a series of recommendations and messages on topics old and new.

There are more to come in the 13 days that remain before Democratic President-elect Carter takes office.

In large measure, a White House official said, Ford's final messages are intended to underscore matters of personal conviction.

One, his tax cut recommendation, redeems a campaign promise, even though it has no chance of enactment. Another, an energy message for release today, reviews his two-year series of conservation proposals, many of which foundered in Congress long ago.

In proposing statehood for Puerto Rico, Ford acted to meet a long-lapsed deadline for some kind of recommendation. His aides insist it was done with careful study and preparation, not as an afterthought. Still, that New Year's Eve proposal came as a surprise, and Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, acknowledged it was not well presented.

Those recommendations went to Congress, as well as a still pending move to end price controls on gasoline and a possible measure to overhaul the government's energy agencies.

Ford will appear before a joint session of Congress on Jan. 12 to deliver his final State of the Union message, and his last budget will be submitted five days later.

But Congress is in a holding pattern, awaiting Carter, and White House officials acknowledge there is no chance the last-minute Ford proposals will go anywhere.

Carter Ponders Rebate

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President-elect Carter, talking for the first time about the possibility of a permanent tax cut, is meeting with key congressional Democrats to see if they might favor a one-shot tax rebate to boost the economy.

Thirteen leaders of the Democratic majority were to meet here today with Carter and his economic team in an effort to hammer out a joint program to stimulate an economy that Carter and his advisers feel is far from robust.

The President-elect met with his economic aides Thursday and later said he hoped he could disclose at least the broad outlines of an economic program "if we can reach a compatible understanding" with the congressional delegation today.

Among those meeting with Carter today was House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, who said Thursday that Carter's economic proposals will have top priority in the House, where tax legislation must originate.

Carter said options under discussion Thursday included "a permanent tax reduction, which would be compatible with long range reforms, plus the possibility of a temporary tax stimulus as well."

He did not elaborate on the nature of the temporary stimulus, beyond saying it "would only be for one year."

But it was learned that Carter had voiced a preference for a tax rebate that would quickly give taxpayers money to pump into the economy instead of a reduction in income tax withholding rates that would be felt slowly over the entire year.

Carter previously spoke of permanent tax cuts as part of an over-all tax reform that might take months to prepare, but Thursday he said:

"I think it would take at least until next fall to work out a perfect tax reform package, but if there are some small elements that are obviously going to be part of an over-all package, they might very well be included at this early stage."

Carter conceded that his own economic team was not in agreement after Thursday's three-hour meeting. He said no effort was made to resolve differences until the congressional leaders arrived. "We want to have their input on an equal basis with our own," he said.

He said a program to cut unemployment will remain the priority item in his economic package, adding, "whatever we can't do with the jobs program, we'll make up the differences with the tax program."

President Pushes Energy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is making a final pitch for his energy programs, ranging from removal of price controls on fuels to stepped-up conservation measures.

Ford was expected today to spell out what he views as the nation's unfinished energy business in a special message to Congress.

A White House aide said the message would break no new ground, but would substantially be "an update" of Ford administration energy programs and recommendations.

Ford's efforts to get his own energy program through the last Congress were unsuccessful. There is little possibility that a Democratic Congress waiting for Democratic President-elect Carter to take office on Jan. 20 will take any action on the proposals of an outgoing Republican President.

One of Ford's most controversial recent proposals is the removal of remaining price controls on gasoline.

Although Ford seems certain to touch on this subject in his energy message, it was unclear whether he would couple the message with formal action to remove the controls.

He had been expected to order removal of controls earlier in the week, but the move was delayed amid growing opposition from congressional Democrats. They contended the step would result in higher prices for consumers at the gasoline pump.

Congress would have 15 days in which to block such a move.

Even if Ford chooses to announce the action today, he will have left office before the 15 days expire, meaning the order could be rescinded by Carter if he so desired.

Ford's message will contain many points he raised in his 1976 energy message, an aide said. In that message, delivered last February, Ford blamed Congress for delaying action on energy measures.

Among measures Ford pushed then were bills to deregulate natural gas prices, ease clean air standards to allow more burning of coal and financial guarantees of up to $6 billion for development of plants to convert coal into synthetic fuels. Those plans never were enacted.

Meanwhile, Carter has said his energy policy will stress conservation and more use of coal, giving nuclear power third place.

Ford has strongly pushed nuclear energy programs, but Carter has been less enthusiastic.

Ford and Carter differ on increasing coal production. Ford called for doubling production by 1985 with more strip-mining in the West. He vetoed two bills setting strip mining environmental controls, saying they would hamper the drive for energy independence.

But Carter has called for more coal from Appalachia with less strip-mining in the West. He is viewed as sympathetic to legislation, likely to be approved again by Congress, enacting strip mining curbs.

Liberal To Join Panama Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed U.S. and Latin American diplomats expect Sol M. Linowitz, a liberal Democrat, to join the U.S. team negotiating a new Panama Canal treaty.

President-elect Carter's appointment of Linowitz could touch off protests by hardliners in Congress who are against any wholesale revision of the controversial 1903 Canal Zone pact.

Linowitz headed a commission that recommended last month that the new administration "promptly negotiate" a new treaty and declared the canal "no longer vital for U.S. commerce or defense."

The 63-year-old Linowitz, a Washington lawyer who served as ambassador to the Organization of American States (OAS) from 1966 to 1969, is out of the country and unavailable for comment.

Carter has rated the canal issue as one of the most urgent facing his new administration. Carter is expected to make clear that Ellsworth Bunker, a career diplomat who has led the slow-moving Panama talks for the past four years, is being asked to work with Linowitz as a means of providing continuity, at least temporarily.

The commission chaired by Linowitz also recommended that Congress be involved in the canal negotiations.

Meantime, sources reported that a group of Panamanian officials will be visiting Washington next week for talks with State Department authorities on aspects of a projected new canal treaty.

These talks were said to be for the purpose of clarifying various U.S. proposals on the future status of Americans living in the Canal Zone, on territorial and water facilities the Americans seem ready to give back to Panama and on some other undefined issues.

At the center of the stalled negotiations between the Americans and Panamanians is the question of how long a new treaty should endure.

Panama has offered to permit the pact to run to the year 2000. But then Panama would want a total U.S. withdrawal and transfer of control. For its part, the United States wants to keep control for around 40 years with primary rights to defend the canal indefinitely.

Linowitz said in his report: "The Panama Canal is no longer vital for U.S. commerce or defense. Super-tankers and aircraft carriers cannot transit it. Only 10 per cent of U.S. foreign commerce now passes through Panama."

Yet the waterway remains useful, the document said. The key question for Americans to settle is how best to ensure that the canal stays open "on a nondiscriminatory basis."

"Cooperation with Panama, not confrontation, is most likely to achieve our objective," the Linowitz report said.

Ford will appear before a joint session of Congress on Jan. 12 to deliver his final State of the Union message, and his last budget will be submitted five days later.

But Congress is in a holding pattern, awaiting Carter, and White House officials acknowledge there is no chance the last-minute Ford proposals will go anywhere.

Ford still is considering some measure of amnesty for Vietnam era draft evaders and deserters, as he promised the widow of Sen. Philip A. Hart. Nessen said there is no chance Ford will approve blanket amnesty, but that he may order some more limited action.

Any move in that area would get him in a step ahead of Carter, who has promised to pardon draft dodgers the first week he is in office.

Ford could, and probably will, hand Carter a dilemma in another area simply by doing nothing. The issue is federal pay. Hefty increases have been recommended for top level officials, judges and members of Congress. Congressional pay would go from $44,600 to $57,500.

The increases would cost $129.5 million a year and, if Ford approves them, would take effect in 30 days unless Congress disapproved them.

But the issue is a tough one politically. A White House aide said the raises are needed, but the public isn't going to like them.

"It's a question of taking the political heat," the official said. "The Carter administration is going to get the benefits and the incumbent would take the blame."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today after an erratic session that halted the slide of 27 points in the Dow Jones industrial average since the new year.

Trading was brisk. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up about a point in the early going. Advances and declines were about even.

Brokers noted some indecision about President-elect Jimmy Carter's fiscal program. He is meeting with congressional leaders today and might outline his proposals afterward. He is expected to call for a job-creation program, tax rebates and possibly a domestic investment tax credit for business.

In early trading, AT&T was unchanged at 63 1/4; Bethlehem Steel rose 1/4 to 38 1/4, and General Electric was up 1/4 to 53.

GE said the company will be reorganizing into "perhaps" seven operating units by next Jan. 1 to "cope with the increasing complexity of both the company and the business environment."

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 1.83 gain to 979.89 after having been up nearly 8 points at mid-afternoon.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 9-5 ratio on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 23.92 million shares, against 25.10 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index rose 16 to 56.75.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .68 at 110.34.

Claudine Longet Jury Nearly Ready

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Claudine Longet, who cried when the only prospective juror with "compassion" for her was rejected because of his concern for the singer's children, is about to face the final jury panel in the shooting death trial of her lover.

With just one more juror to be approved, State District Court Judge George Lohr was expected to swear in 12 jurors and two alternates today. He said opening arguments and testimony would begin Monday morning.

Broadcasting executive Revell Fox, who Miss Longet said had been the only one of 51 possible jurors questioned since Monday who had come with "compassion, someone willing to come with an open heart and understanding," was dismissed Thursday.

Tears rolled down Miss Longet's face and she bit her lip to fight them back when Fox was dismissed.

During a recess in the fourth day of jury selection, Miss Longet said Fox had brought her hope in the midst of "so much despair and darkness."

Seventeen potential jurors were dismissed after they said they felt the 35-year-old French-born entertainer was guilty of recklessly killing champion skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich, with whom she had lived for two years.

During Thursday's court session,

Miss Longet received an anonymous note which a friend said had been given her outside the courtroom. It said "Be brave. There are many with compassion." Miss Longet read it and smiled.

Fox, 59, had been tentatively approved Wednesday, but lawyers sought a re-examination after Lohr released a letter from him that elaborated on his feeling that Miss Longet should not be separated from her children — Noel, 12, Christian, 10, and Bobby, 7. Their father is singer Andy Williams, from whom she is divorced.

"I have a very strong feeling about the family relationship," he said in his letter. "I don't want to be part of a program or jury decision that affects a person with children behind the scenes."

Sabich, 31 when he was shot last March 21, was a hero in this Rocky Mountain village of 6,000. He was the first American skier to compete successfully on the world professional circuit.

Miss Longet contends that Sabich was teaching her to use the .22-caliber pistol and that the fatal shot was fired accidentally.

She faces a possible 10-year prison term and a fine of up to $30,000 if convicted of the charge of recklessly killing Sabich.

Insane Murderess May Be Released

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Psychiatrists have recommended the release of a woman who was committed to a mental hospital 17 months ago for killing a pregnant woman and cutting out her baby.

The district attorney's office says it is powerless to prevent the hospital from letting the woman go because she was acquitted — on grounds of insanity.

Portuguese Chief Urges More Work

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal could become "a South American republic dependent on the United States" unless its people buy less and work harder, Premier Mario Soares said today.

The Socialist government chief said in an interview with The Associated Press that the United States has a commitment to sustain democracy in his country, and he plans to go to Washington in February or March to see President Carter.

But Soares said the Portuguese need to guard against becoming over-dependent on America. He said they must cut consumer spending and improve productivity, which has been badly bludgeoned by two years of labor strife and absenteeism.

The Ford administration granted Portugal a $300 million, short-term emergency loan this week. Soares is seeking $1 1/2 billion in long-term credits from a consortium of the United States, West European countries, Canada and Japan.

The premier mentioned several plans to revive Portugal's economy. He said there would be price controls on such staple foods as eggs, milk, sugar, fowl and pork, but other prices would be allowed to rise freely.

He said he hopes with the help of foreign loans to start up several projects next year including an oil refinery, a cereal storage program, a hydroelectric dam in central Portugal and a sugar industry.

Owners of factories and farms taken over by workers and peasants after the April 1974 revolution will be reimbursed for the value of the property, but the government will require them to invest the compensation in "productive industries," he said.

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — President-elect Carter telephoned the Rev. Billy Graham to invite the minister to his Jan. 20th inauguration in Washington.

Graham, hospitalized here for treatment of an inflammation of a vein in his left leg, declined the invitation, but promised Carter that he would attend the inauguration prayer breakfast in the White House January 27th.

Thugs Assault Woman In Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Police are hunting four gunmen who broke into the home of Lady Sarah Spencer-Churchill, assaulted the 55-year-old

Vanderbilt heiress and shot two people during a robbery rampage in a wealthy Montego Bay suburb.

The London Daily Mail said Lady Sarah, a distant cousin of the late Sir Winston Churchill and a sister of the present Duke of Marlborough, reported in a telephone interview that one of the gunmen "picked me up and slung me over his shoulder and took me down to the maid's room and assaulted me. There was nothing I could do. He held a knife to my throat, and if I had struggled he would have killed me."

Police said the woman managed to struggle free from her attacker, then fled the house in her nightgown and hid in the shrubbery until the police arrived.

A house guest shot by the intruders, Michael Zell, 33, an interior decorator born in Hungary, was reported in serious condition.

The attack occurred early Thursday morning in the Long Hill section of Reading, where about 1,000 wealthy foreigners have winter homes. Lady Sarah told the Daily Mail the gang demanded money and drugs and were "obviously out of their minds on ganja," Jamaican slang for marijuana. She said they left the house "a wreck."

The gunmen also shot their way into the home of a neighbor, Dr. Herbert Eldemire, a former government official who barricaded himself in a bedroom, police said. They terrorized him into throwing $70 out of a window to them but were unable to break into the bedroom.

The gang shot a man who saw them leave Eldemire's house, but he managed to alert authorities, the police said.

Lady Sarah inherited a sizable fortune from her American grandmother, the late Consuelo Vanderbilt Balsan, whose father was railroad tycoon William K. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Balsan's unhappy marriage to the ninth Duke of Marlborough in 1895 was one of the first headline alliances between European nobility and American money.

Britain's World War II prime minister, Sir Winston Churchill, was a second cousin of Lady Sarah's father, the 10th Duke of Marlborough, who died in 1972.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today after an erratic session that halted the slide of 27 points in the Dow Jones industrial average since the new year.

Trading was brisk. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up about a point in the early going. Advances and declines were about even.

Brokers noted some indecision about President-elect Jimmy Carter's fiscal program. He is meeting with congressional leaders today and might outline his proposals afterward. He is expected to call for a job-creation program, tax rebates and possibly a domestic investment tax credit for business.

In early trading, AT&T was unchanged at 63½; Bethlehem Steel rose ½ to 38½, and General Electric was up ½ to 53.

GE said the company will be reorganized into "perhaps" seven operating units by next Jan. 1 to "cope with the increasing complexity of both the company and the business environment."

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 1.83 gain to 979.89 after having been up nearly 8 points at mid-afternoon.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 9-5 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 23.92 million shares, against 25.10 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index rose .16 to 56.75.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .68 at 110.34.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal could become "a South American republic dependent on the United States" unless its people buy less and work harder, Premier Mario Soares said today.

Sex Photos Sent To Queen

LONDON — A Danish anti-pornography campaigner claims he sent explicit sex photographs to Queen Elizabeth II.

Svend Laursen, a 42-year-old father of five, said Thursday that he enclosed the pictures from a Danish sex education textbook to make sure similar photos did not get into British texts.

"Soon British school children can be exposed to hard pornography in the name of sex education as they are in my country," Laursen said. "This is a worldwide struggle."

sanity.

Winifred Ransom, 38, who admitted at her trial that she shot and bludgeoned the woman and removed the baby with a butcher knife, is no longer insane, doctors at Byberry State Hospital said.

Margaret Sweeney, 26, the woman Mrs. Ransom admitted killing, was eight months pregnant at the time of the incident in November 1974. Her infant, a girl, survived and is being raised by relatives. Mrs. Sweeney and her husband were estranged.

Mrs. Ransom was acquitted in July 1975. Psychiatrists testified at her trial that she was driven by a psychotic delusion caused by her inability to bear children.

Common Pleas Court Judge Juanita Kidd Stout committed Mrs. Ransom to Byberry.

Last month, Judge Stout received letters from Dr. Albert Solomon and Dr. Juan Villazon of Byberry, recommending that Mrs. Ransom be released. The doctors said that Mrs. Ransom remains "schizophrenic" but no longer requires in-patient treatment.

"If you discharge her," Judge Stout wrote in reply, "she is your responsibility and not mine. I really cannot understand how, in all circumstances of this case, you can recommend discharging Mrs. Ransom to go out into the community and resume normal life."

The request for release was the third from the hospital. Five months after Mrs. Ransom was committed, doctors asked that she be released for the Christmas holidays in 1975 because her condition had improved considerably, according to court records.

But she had not been declared sane, and both the judge and the Philadelphia district attorney denied the request.

Two months later, Dr. George Buck wrote that the woman was "in good condition" and should be transferred to an out-patient facility.

The district attorney's office also denied that request and wrote that "due to the horrendous nature of the offense ... this office seriously questions the advisability of such a recommendation by hospital officials at this early date."

Princess Anne Given Summons

ALFRETON, England (AP) — Princess Anne, given a summons in November for speeding on an expressway in Derbyshire, is due in a local magistrates court Jan. 21.

But a Buckingham Palace spokesman said a lawyer probably would represent her.

The summons alleged that Princess Anne exceeded Britain's 70 miles per hour speed limit, police said Thursday. She reportedly was driving at 90.

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Police are hunting four gunmen who broke into the home of Lady Sarah Spencer-Churchill, assaulted the 55-year-old

Vanderbilt heiress and shot two people during a robbery rampage in a wealthy Montego Bay suburb.

The London Daily Mail said Lady Sarah, a distant cousin of the late Sir Winston Churchill and a sister of the present Duke of Marlborough, reported in a telephone interview that one of the gunmen "picked me up and slung me over his shoulder and took me down to the maid's room and assaulted me. There was nothing I could do. He held a knife to my throat, and if I had struggled he would have killed me."

Police said the woman managed to struggle free from her attacker, then fled the house in her nightgown and hid in the shrubbery until the police arrived.

A house guest shot by the intruders, Michael Zell, 33, an interior decorator born in Hungary, was reported in serious condition.

The attack occurred early Thursday morning in the Long Hill section of Reading, where about 1,000 wealthy foreigners have winter homes. Lady Sarah told the Daily Mail the gang demanded money and drugs and were "obviously out of their minds on ganja," Jamaican slang for marijuana. She said they left the house "a wreck."

The gunmen also shot their way into the home of a neighbor, Dr. Herbert Eldemire, a former government official who barricaded himself in a bedroom, police said. They terrorized him into throwing $70 out of a window to them but were unable to break into the bedroom.

The gang shot a man who saw them leave Eldemire's house, but he managed to alert authorities, the police said.

Lady Sarah inherited a sizable fortune from her American grandmother, the late Consuelo Vanderbilt Balsan, whose father was railroad tycoon William K. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Balsan's unhappy marriage to the ninth Duke of Marlborough in 1895 was one of the first headline alliances between European nobility and American money.

Britain's World War II prime minister, Sir Winston Churchill, was a second cousin of Lady Sarah's father, the 10th Duke of Marlborough, who died in 1972.

Six People Injured In Accidents

Six people were injured on snow-covered Pickaway County roads in three accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Thursday.

However, only one of the crashes was blamed on slippery roads, Deputies said.

Two people were hurt in a 11:35 a.m. accident at the intersection of Old Tarlton Pike and the Ringgold-Southern Road.

Douglas M. Marshall, 21, 458 E. Main St., apartment 2, was referred to a doctor for treatment of a back pain, and a passenger in his car, Diane L. Morrison, 22, 110 Main St., Williamsport, complained of a hip injury.

Deputy Sheriff Terry Frazier charged Lettlem Whaley, 38, 22581 Ringgold-Southern Road, with failure to yield the right of way, although there was no collision between the two cars.

According to the report, Marshall was driving west on Old Tarlton Pike, and Mrs. Whaley was driving east. She apparently turned left to go north on the Ringgold-Southern Road and cut in front of Marshall's car.

Marshall applied his brakes and swerved to the left to avoid a collision, skidding 152 feet out of control with the car flipping to its top.

Three people were hurt in a 6:55 p.m. accident at the intersection of Route 22 and Water St. in Williamsport, according to Deputy Sheriff Jim Dixon.

The three, Marie A. Trapp, 26, and Brian A. Trapp, 6, both of 8608 Eagle Ridge, Orient, and Michael G. Rull, 37, Washington C.H., were referred to doctors for treatment of minor bumps.

According to the report, Ms. Trapp, who was driving north on Water St., apparently pulled her car across Route 22 into the path of Rull's westbound auto.

After impact, Ms. Trapp's car spun in the roadway while Rull's vehicle struck a hedge owned by Esta M. Tipton, Water St.

Bruce Hines, 19, Amanda, was treated at Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital for back and neck injuries he suffered in a one-car accident 7:50 p.m. Thursday on Route 159, seven-tenths of a mile south of the Pickaway-Saltcreek Road.

Hines, driving north, had passed through a small bridge when he lost control of his car on the ice.

The vehicle crashed through a fence owned by Edgar Harrel, 27784 Route 159, and struck and broke off a telephone pole.

The accident was investigated by Pickaway County deputy J. Phillip Brown. Hines was taken to the hospital by the Amanda Emergency Squad.

Pet Law Enforcement Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Enforcement of licensing regulations, placing tattoos on dogs, reducing licensing fees for neutered animals and low-cost sterilization have been recommended as legislation to control animals in the state.

"The major dog problem now facing U.S. cities is not an animal surplus but a surplus of poorly supervised pets," said Alan M. Beck, director of the Bureau of Animal Affairs in New York City.

He spoke at a workshop at Ohio State University in which 21 organizations explored the state's legislative needs in animal control on Wednesday and Thursday.

John Hoyt, president of the Humane Society of the United States, said the problem of free-roaming animals can be tackled in several ways, including enforcement of licensing regulations, issuing citations for persons allowing dogs to roam, reducing license fees for neutered animals and the inexpensive sterilization programs.

Hoyt said the society will ask the Federal Food and Drug Administration next week to approve a low-cost sterilant that will permanently neuter male dogs with one injection.

The sterilant, costing 50 cents an injection, would replace sterilization.

C. Jack Homes, manager of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Vancouver, B.C., said his organization uses a tattoo program to identify dogs. Tattoos are placed in the dog's ear with a number that is on file in a computer.

Bill Of Rights

Americans have celebrated 1976 as the 200th year of the birth of their nation, but actually the process of forming the fundamentals we now cherish took far longer than a year. It was 185 years ago that the first 10 amendments to the Constitution were ratified by enough states to become part of the law of the land.

Two other amendments were submitted along with these 10, only to be rejected.

The two rejected were numbered one and two, so that the present First Amendment was submitted to the states as the third.

One of the two rejected proposals would have prescribed a fixed population ratio for determining the membership of the House of Representatives. This lacked one state of the necessary number for ratification. The other would have held up any change voted in the pay of Congress until a new House had been elected. That was defeated ignominiously, lacking five states of the necessary number.

The Bill of Rights, protecting the liberty of the individual against the power of the government, goes back to "unalienable rights" insisted upon by the Declaration of Independence and to bills of rights adopted by Virginia and other states.

Overrunning Cup

By JIM BISHOP

Saudi Arabia used to be hundreds of miles of cresting waves of sand, nomadic tribes huddled in tents heating food with dried camel dung, and a few cities such as Riyadh, Mecca and Jidda. To make a $150 typewriter work, the government hired a $200-a-week foreigner.

Then came oil. And world riches. Last year Saudi Arabia had $35 billion it could not spend nor invest. This year, it must cope with $40 billion more. The glut has led to quarrels among King Khalid's relatives, but Saudi Arabia wants more money for its oil.

The population is 8.1 million, about the size of New York City. There are three classes of people: The Moslem king and 3,000 relatives; a small merchant class, visible only in the big cities; a depressed class of almost 8 million Moslems.

Last September a Harvard scholar, Edward R. F. Sheehan, stood in the port city of Jidda, stunned by what he saw. The Saudis seemed to have bought everything of value everywhere. They had 200 ships at anchor in the harbor, some of which had been there for months.

The government imported Yemenis from the south as dock workers. In the harbor were tape recorders, X-ray machines, school books, cranes, jeeps, bulldozers, bandages, automobiles, rice, wheat, TV sets, cement and 100 patrol boats.

The princes have a five-year plan, but no one seems to have read it. The X-ray machines are useless without hospitals. Hospitals require cement. Saudi Arabia bought helicopters to lift bags of cement from freighters and fly them to the docks.

They have patrol boats, but no one trained Saudi sailors. Ten thousand Cadillacs, Rolls-Royces and Maseratis rust in the tropical sun because they have been bought by the government. The officials have more automobiles than they can use. The tribes cannot buy or drive.

Tens of thousands of bags of finished flour are sprouting leaves on the docks. The rains have turned them to paste. This, in turn, bred rats. Near Sakaka there is a new airport. The government pays tower men to turn the runway lights on and off, but no planes arrive or take off.

The royal vaults are choked with dollars, pesos, yen, lire, pounds and Deutsche Marks. Worldwide inflation reduces the value of all of them. The princes, who are interrelated, try to outspend each other.

Some built schools. In all the kingdom there are 34,000 teachers. Classrooms are empty. Cesspools are pumped dry; the trucks take the waste out of Jidda and dump it in the first empty lot. There are new roads for people to walk on.

The rich puritan Moslems import blonde English girls and buy films like "Deep Throat." Apartment houses are built for the poor. They toss garbage from the windows. Often the tribes sleep in doorways or on the sand at the edge of the sea.

King Khalid is building a new airport outside of Jidda. It will be almost the size of the city of Washington, D. C. Around it laborers live in shacks made of cardboard boxes which collapse in rain.

The monetary unit, riyal, is hit by 40 per cent inflation annually. To keep afloat, merchants demand millions in kickbacks for contracts. King Khalid, 62, is a weak ruler overwhelmed by cousins. He spurns the marble palaces and prefers to hunt in the desert with his falcons.

The Arab nations look to Saudi Arabia for assistance. A deputy minister claims that Egypt got $9 or 10 billion last year, he isn't sure which. Other nations receive smaller amounts. The Saudis are trying to buy a dominant role in the Arab world, but the Moslems refuse to remain bought.

Syria claims to be on the edge of bankruptcy. Saudi Arabia sells oil to Syria, then lends it the money to pay for it. Khalid doesn't get much credit, but he ended the civil war in Lebanon by warning the Lebanese, the Egyptians, the Syrians and the Palestinians to compose their quarrel "at once" or risk the closing of Saudi Arabian aid.

The war ended. The kingdom maintains good diplomatic and economic relations with the United States. Secretly, the Saudis point out to the State Department that they import American Jews to help them in business. They seldom mention that they have $30 billion deposited in American banks.

Money piles on money. Saudi Arabia may have to build a steel warehouse to store it. The government smiles when it hears the threats of the U.S. Congress regarding the Arab boycott.

Who knows? Someday they may try to buy Congress.

Ex-Policeman Now Bodyguard

CHICAGO (AP) — Former policeman Mike Chiappetta says some women are hiring him as an armed bodyguard to accompany them on trips to stores and restaurants.

Chiappetta, 32, head of a small security agency, says women "call me up, and I'll accompany them to Bonwit Teller or Saks — places like that."

"A few nights ago I accompanied a woman to Chez Paul for dinner. I'm not one of those escort guys. I'm acting strictly as a bodyguard. If they want me armed, I come armed."

Fees range from $5 to $22.50 an hour, "depending on how broke I am," he added.

LAFF - A - DAY

"All my life I've looked forward to making the salary we can't pay our bills on now!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I get severe itching of the upper lip. It drives me crazy. These episodes come on every few days. My grandmother says (and I'm not kidding) that intestinal worms can cause this. What do you say?

Miss J. S., Tenn.

Dear Miss S.:
Readers of my column know that I have great respect for grandmothers' wisdom. However, in this instance, I must depart from my admiration for grandmothers' diagnostic acumen.

Instead, I would give consideration to the greater possibility that itching of the upper lip is allergic in origin. It may be due to some substance you're in contact with.

Lipsticks, hair sprays, hair dyes, and cosmetics generally, may be the offender.

Itching of the lips can also be an allergic reaction to certain foods or drugs.

When itching becomes so intolerable, consultation with an allergist may help identify the responsible substance. Allergists have at their command many excellent techniques to track down the irritant. Intestinal worms can cause itching around the rectal area. If you want to satisfy your grandma, it's easy to rule out the possibility of worms.

I have a constant echo of my heart beating in my left ear. I'm six months pregnant and can't take any medication. Is this dangerous?

Mrs. L. F., Maine

Dear Mrs. F.:
The incessant heartbeat which is transferred to the ear can be most annoying. It's especially noticeable when you are fatigued, in a quiet room or when you are emotionally upset.

The assurance that you say you were given by two ear specialists should, for the time being, reduce your anxiety.

When the pregnancy is over there are numerous studies of the blood vessels that can be made in order to track down any specific cause of this referred heartbeat.

Canadian Problems Face President-Elect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost as soon as he takes office, President-elect Carter will face some key decisions likely to influence the United States' uneasy relationship with Canada for years to come.

The issues that will face Carter immediately range from joint air defense needs to the disputed ownership of islands in the Arctic and off the eastern seaboard, diplomatic sources say.

Other problems have been smoldering in the background for years and quick settlement by the new administration plainly could provide a basis for wider agreements between the two neighbors.

U.S. defense arrangements are more extensive with Canada than with any other country and the Carter administration will have to make some early decisions on their continuation.

The two governments work together within the framework of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), which exercises operational control over U.S. and Canadian air defense forces and provides early warning information in case of air and missile attack. Extensive NORAD radar networks operate in Canada.

Officials of the two countries are due to discuss current air defense needs and costs late this month. Then a policy decision will have to be made in Washington and Ottawa about meeting these needs and sharing their costs.

Another immediate contact between Canada and the new administration is a Jan. 17 meeting in Los Angeles where negotiators will meet to put into place 200-mile fishing zones. The aim is to coordinate the zones in ways designed to head off possible conflicts.

The Canadian zone was set up formally Jan. 1. The U.S. zone comes into being March 1. Each is designed to protect depleted fish stocks.

But certain overlapping difficulties inevitably have arisen and, pending a settlement of certain conflicting boundary claims, American trawlers have been freed from the obligation of having to be licensed to fish in the Canadian zone.

In parallel with these talks, the two governments will be trying to resolve other maritime and territorial boundary disputes. They have rival claims to major fishing grounds on Georges Bank and the Strait of Juan de Fuca between Washington State and Vancouver Island.

Additionally, the ownership of several small isles off their east coasts is in dispute. So, too, is Canada's claim to sovereignty over certain Arctic islands and the waters surrounding them where oil and gas deposits in the seabed are believed to exist.

Then, during February, the Carter administration will need to make another key decision to avoid the possibility of a one-sided Canadian action over St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

Canada wants these tolls raised substantially and has been pressing to negotiate changes in existing agreements to remove the all-Canadian Welland Canal from joint Seaway toll-fixing arrangements. Canada also wants to provide for an annual review of toll levels.

Computer Looks Up Parents

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Adult adoptees who want to track down their biological parents soon will be able to get help from a computer.

Donna Cullom, who has file cards on 6,000 persons, says the sleuthing job is a big one and chances of matchups on the first computer run are slim. She estimates there are nine million adoptees in the United States.

Miss Cullom, 35, established Yesterday's Children in 1974 for grown adoptees or parents who had given up their children but wanted to be reunited. She said the nonprofit agency has helped 370 adoptees find their biological parents "through pure detective work."

The searches are often frustrated by the lack of access to adoption records, which in most states are sealed by law and unavailable to either parents or offspring, Miss Cullom said.

"All most of these people want is the option of knowing their heritage," she said.

Miss Cullom, who was an adopted child herself, said it took her "12 years to find my mother."

"And I also found that I have nine brothers and sisters. My father had died," she said. "I wasn't looking for mom and dad as such. I just wanted to know how I fit on the real family tree."

Miss Cullom's computer project is called the National Adoption Registry and is to be activated within a month, she said.

Yesterday's Children has offices at 1371 Livingston Street in Evanston.

NEW YORK (AP) — One immediate effect of President-elect Carter's new code of ethics might be to make government service more like service — a service to be performed rather than an opportunity to be seized.

And because often there is a perverse side to the general rule, it might also discourage some of the nation's best talent from offering their services in Washington.

In regard to the former, it has been widely recognized among the smart men on the move that a good degree, important contacts and a spell in Washington is a formula for success in the commercial world.

Law offices are loaded with attorneys who spent just enough time near the seat of government to learn the pressure points, the personnel and endless maze of corridors.

To the corporations that more and more are being regulated, advised and even dictated to from Washington, an experienced hand — especially if he dealt with the company's specific problems while in government — is invaluable.

In some instances the individual continues in almost the same work but from the opposite side of the desk once he joins a corporation. The examples are numerous.

Graduates of the great governmental university have moved rapidly into top jobs in transportation, utilities, philanthropy, consumer affairs, financial institutions and securities. Recent heads of both the New York and American stock exchanges, for example, once were Securities and Exchange Commission officials, whose job it was to regulate the institutions they later joined.

Under the new code, many appointees in policy-making roles will be barred for one year from representing for pay anyone before their former department or agency. This regulation immediately would make it less attractive for an administration official to succumb to the lure of cash, retire from government and switch allegiance to support a special interest.

At the same time, another regulation — that individuals must divest themselves of financial holdings likely to be affected by their official acts — could very well rule out acceptance of a job by accomplished people.

Such individuals, quite naturally, often are possessed of various financial holdings, some of which they built up slowly and painfully. For them to divest these holdings could be tantamount to scrapping a lifetime effort.

Already some of the most accomplished businessmen in the country shy away from government service because of the loss of privacy and what they feel is the sometimes savage grilling to which they are exposed.

Asked why he never considered government service, a top officer of a very large bank, wealthy, nearing retirement and clearly with experience and knowledge that could benefit the government, stepped back in shock and replied: "Me? And expose my family to all the questioning and criticism that goes on there!"

Bill Of Rights

Americans have celebrated 1976 as the 200th year of the birth of their nation, but actually the process of forming the fundamentals we now cherish took far longer than a year. It was 185 years ago that the first 10 amendments to the Constitution were ratified by enough states to become part of the law of the land.

Two other amendments were submitted along with these 10, only to be rejected.

The two rejected were numbered one and two, so that the present First Amendment was submitted to the states as the third.

One of the two rejected proposals would have prescribed a fixed population ratio for determining the membership of the House of Representatives. This lacked one state of the necessary number for ratification. The other would have held up any change voted in the pay of Congress until a new House had been elected. That was defeated ignominiously, lacking five states of the necessary number.

The Bill of Rights, protecting the liberty of the individual against the power of the government, goes back to "unalienable rights" insisted upon by the Declaration of Independence and to bills of rights adopted by Virginia and other states.

Overrunning Cup

By JIM BISHOP

Saudi Arabia used to be hundreds of miles of cresting waves of sand, nomadic tribes huddled in tents heating food with dried camel dung, and a few cities such as Riyadh, Mecca and Jidda. To make a $150 typewriter work, the government hired a $200-a-week foreigner.

Then came oil. And world riches. Last year Saudi Arabia had $35 billion it could not spend nor invest. This year, it must cope with $40 billion more. The glut has led to quarrels among King Khalid's relatives, but Saudi Arabia wants more money for its oil.

The population is 8.1 million, about the size of New York City. There are three classes of people: The Moslem king and 3,000 relatives; a small merchant class, visible only in the big cities; a depressed class of almost 8 million Moslems.

Last September a Harvard scholar, Edward R. F. Sheehan, stood in the port city of Jidda, stunned by what he saw. The Saudis seemed to have bought everything of value everywhere. They had 200 ships at anchor in the harbor, some of which had been there for months.

The government imported Yemenis from the south as dock workers. In the harbor were tape recorders, X-ray machines, school books, cranes, jeeps, bulldozers, bandages, automobiles, rice, wheat, TV sets, cement and 100 patrol boats.

The princes have a five-year plan, but no one seems to have read it. The X-ray machines are useless without hospitals. Hospitals require cement. Saudi Arabia bought helicopters to lift bags of cement from freighters and fly them to the docks.

They have patrol boats, but no one trained Saudi sailors. Ten thousand Cadillac, Rolls-Royces and Maseratis rust in the tropical sun because they have been bought by the government. The officials have more automobiles than they can use. The tribes cannot buy or drive.

Tens of thousands of bags of finished flour are sprouting leaves on the docks. The rains have turned them to paste. This, in turn, bred rats. Near Sakaka there is a new airport. The government pays tower men to turn the runway lights on and off, but no planes arrive or take off.

The royal vaults are choked with dollars, pesos, yen, lire, pounds and Deutsche Marks. Worldwide inflation reduces the value of all of them. The princes, who are interrelated, try to outspend each other.

Some built schools. In all the kingdom there are 34,000 teachers. Classrooms are empty. Cesspools are pumped dry; the trucks take the waste out of Jidda and dump it in the first empty lot. There are new roads for people to walk on.

The rich puritan Moslems import blonde English girls and buy films like "Deep Throat." Apartment houses are built for the poor. They toss garbage from the windows. Often the tribes sleep in doorways or on the sand at the edge of the sea.

King Khalid is building a new airport outside of Jidda. It will be almost the size of the city of Washington, D. C. Around it laborers live in shacks made of cardboard boxes which collapse in rain.

The monetary unit, riyal, is hit by 40 per cent inflation annually. To keep afloat, merchants demand millions in kickbacks for contracts. King Khalid, 62, is a weak ruler overwhelmed by cousins. He spurns the marble palaces and prefers to hunt in the desert with his falcons.

The Arab nations look to Saudi Arabia for assistance. A deputy minister claims that Egypt got $9 or 10 billion last year, he isn't sure which. Other nations receive smaller amounts. The Saudis are trying to buy a dominant role in the Arab world, but the Moslems refuse to remain bought.

Syria claims to be on the edge of bankruptcy. Saudi Arabia sells oil to Syria, then lends it the money to pay for it. Khalid doesn't get much credit, but he ended the civil war in Lebanon by warning the Lebanese, the Egyptians, the Syrians and the Palestinians to compose their quarrel "at once" or risk the closing of Saudi Arabian aid.

The war ended. The kingdom maintains good diplomatic and economic relations with the United States. Secretly, the Saudis point out to the State Department that they import American Jews to help them in business. They seldom mention that they have $30 billion deposited in American banks.

Money piles on money. Saudi Arabia may have to build a steel warehouse to store it. The government smiles when it hears the threats of the U.S. Congress regarding the Arab boycott.

Who knows? Someday they may try to buy Congress...

Defendant Flops As Own Attorney

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Marshall G. Cummings Jr. has no one but himself to blame for his less-than-successful court appearance.

Cummings, 25, accused of purse snatching, was acting as his own attorney Wednesday.

As he cross-examined the victim, he asked her: "Did you get a good look at my face when I took your purse?"

A state jury convicted Cummings of attempted robbery by force and gave him a 10-year prison sentence.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission, Power Siting Commission and Ohio State University will sponsor a workshop for representatives of Ohio electric utilities on a utility planning computer code.

Ex-Policeman Now Bodyguard

CHICAGO (AP) — Former policeman Mike Chiappetta says some women are hiring him as an armed bodyguard to accompany them on trips to stores and restaurants.

Chiappetta, 32, head of a small security agency, says women "call me up, and I'll accompany them to Bonwit Teller or Saks — places like that."

"A few nights ago I accompanied a woman to Chez Paul for dinner. I'm not one of those escort guys. I'm acting strictly as a bodyguard. If they want me armed, I come armed."

Fees range from $5 to $22.50 an hour, "depending on how broke I am," he added.

Canadian Problems Face President-Elect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost as soon as he takes office, President-elect Carter will face some key decisions likely to influence the United States' uneasy relationship with Canada for years to come.

The issues that will face Carter immediately range from joint air defense needs to the disputed ownership of islands in the Arctic and off the eastern seaboard, diplomatic sources say.

Other problems have been smoldering in the background for years and quick settlement by the new administration plainly could provide a basis for wider agreements between the two neighbors.

U.S. defense arrangements are more extensive with Canada than with any other country and the Carter administration will have to make some early decisions on their continuation.

The two governments work together within the framework of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), which exercises operational control over U.S. and Canadian air defense forces and provides early warning information in case of air and missile attack. Extensive NORAD radar networks operate in Canada.

Officials of the two countries are due to discuss current air defense needs and costs late this month. Then a policy decision will have to be made in Washington and Ottawa about meeting these needs and sharing their costs.

Another immediate contact between Canada and the new administration is a Jan. 17 meeting in Los Angeles where negotiators will meet to put into place 200-mile fishing zones. The aim is to coordinate the zones in ways designed to head off possible conflicts.

The Canadian zone was set up formally Jan. 1. The U.S. zone comes into being March 1. Each is designed to protect depleted fish stocks.

But certain overlapping difficulties inevitably have arisen and, pending a settlement of certain conflicting boundary claims, American trawlers have been freed from the obligation of having to be licensed to fish in the Canadian zone.

In parallel with these talks, the two governments will be trying to resolve other maritime and territorial boundary disputes. They have rival claims to major fishing grounds on Georges Bank and the Strait of Juan de Fuca between Washington State and Vancouver Island.

Additionally, the ownership of several small isles off their east coasts is in dispute. So, too, is Canada's claim to sovereignty over certain Arctic islands and the waters surrounding them where oil and gas deposits in the seabed are believed to exist.

Then, during February, the Carter administration will need to make another key decision to avoid the possibility of a onesided Canadian action over St. Lawrence Seaway tolls.

Canada wants these tolls raised substantially and has been pressing to negotiate changes in existing agreements to remove the all-Canadian Welland Canal from joint Seaway toll-fixing arrangements. Canada also wants to provide for an annual review of toll levels.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Talkative Woman Ties Her Tongue

DEAR ABBY: I am a 73-year-old woman. I'm well-educated and have been active and gregarious all my life. Lately I've noticed that people have been avoiding me.

Yesterday my eldest son took me aside and said, "Mother, I don't want to hurt your feelings, but you talk too much."

Abby, I was so hurt, I wanted to die. It came as such a shock to me. I didn't realize that I had been talking more than usual, but apparently I had been. Now I am so self-conscious and inhibited, I hesitate to open my mouth in company. I was much happier when I talked too much and wasn't aware of it.

If there is a happy medium, how does one find it?

TALKS TOO MUCH
DEAR ABBY: Start by resolving to talk only when you have something of consequence to say. Then resolve never to interrupt anyone. And don't be hurt, dear. Your son did you a kindness.

DEAR ABBY: Who wrote: "Any woman who will accept attention from a married man no matter how lonely, misunderstood, henpecked, mistreated, neglected, or unhappy he claims to be is stupid, cruel, cheap, dishonest, and shortsighted?"

HELENE

DEAR HELENE: I did.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is divorced, recently took a fulltime job. She has a 8-year-old daughter, Cissy. She refuses to get a babysitter for Cissy, saying the child is old enough to take care of herself for the three hours after school until my sister gets home.

I am really worried about my niece. She is a quiet child and I am concerned about the responsibility this thrusts on her right after losing her father (a year ago). My mother has threatened to report the situation to the child services department in our town.

Sis thinks we're being silly and says she can't afford a sitter even if she felt one was needed. Mother and I both work, so we can't volunteer our services.

I don't want a family fight, but I feel the welfare of the child is at stake. What should we do?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: I agree. An 8-year-old is too young to be "on her own" for three hours, five days a week. If your sister can't find a friendly neighbor to whom Cissy can report after school, a sitter seems the only alternative.

If your sister doesn't agree, and you report her to the child services department, don't prepare for a "mild fight," but for a full-scale family war.

Study Alcohol, Small Intestine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chronic alcoholism's effects on the small intestine is being tested in Ohio State University's College of Medicine.

"Previous work on alcoholism has focused on the liver, but there has been little done on nutrient absorption by the small intestine," said Dr. Hagop S. Mekhjian, associate professor of gastroenterology.

The research is supported by a $45,884 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service's Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration.

Truck-Driving Grandma Back

RIPON, Wis. (AP) — Bernice MacDonald, a truck-driving grandmother who retired with 2 million miles in her log, is back behind the wheel as a driving instructor.

The 5-foot-2 housewife, who was named the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association's "man of the year" in 1968, was hired Dec. 5 as the first woman instructor at the nearby Fox Valley Institute's truck driver school.

Mrs. MacDonald, 53, retired recently from driving to spend more time with her family, which includes two married daughters.

Akron Pair Win Big Lottery Cash

CLEVELAND (AP) — Murrense Moats of Akron, a 78-year-old former tire plant supervisor, says it was his wife, Lena, who bought the ticket that won them $250,000 in the Ohio Lottery's Pot O' Gold contest.

"But we split everything," said Moats after outlasting five other contestants to pick off the big prize Thursday night.

Moats, who was a supervisor in a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant before he retired, said he enjoys bowling and until a few years ago liked to hunt and fish. But he said he hadn't even thought about what he would do with his new wealth.

"It all just fell into my lap," he said. Jon Warden of Grove City won the top prize of $63,000 in the Double Play game.

Karl Dovich of Hudson won $25,000 in Double Play, and Herbert Gerdes of Cuyahoga Falls took home the $10,000 third prize.

Other winners in the Pot O' Gold contest included James Ochsmier of Newport, Ky., $25,000; Elpidio Lored, Castalia, $11,600; Don Geesey, Bryan, $10,000; Glenn Moon, Massillon, $9,800, and Esther Murray, Coshocton, $10,000.

Ancient Bones Discovered In Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Nine skeletons unearthed in Warren County may be those of people who hunted deer and gathered roots and berries as much as 6,000 years ago, scientists say.

Dr. Jack Schock, an assistant professor of anthropology at Western Kentucky University, said that all but two of the skeletons have been removed from a building site near Plum Springs. A bulldozer exposed the bones, buried between 14 inches and three feet below the surface.

Schock said bone samples will be sent to the University of Georgia for dating by radioactive Carbon 14, the process by which the amount of radiation given off by the remains allows scientists to tell when the people lived.

Schock said the bones could be those of people who lived during the Archaic Period, which dates from 1,000 B.C. to 7,000 B.C.

Schock said those who lived during the era had no pottery and hunted with primitive weapons. They were not farmers, although they may have grown sunflowers or wheat.

Gary Foster, assistant director of archaeological research at Western, said the skeletons recovered last September were of adults in their mid to late 20s, with some possibly older. One of the pits contained only a skull, a case in which the body probably was uncovered and partially reburied, Foster said.

The teeth in one skull were in fairly good condition for their age — good enough to determine that when alive, the man apparently suffered from an abscessed tooth.

Druidism, the ancient religion of the Celtic inhabitants of Gaul and the British Isles, held the oak tree and mistletoe in great reverence and conducted their rituals in oak forests.

Money Sticks For 'Wavy Davy'

DAYTON, Nev. (AP) — Wavy Davy keeps his vacation money pinned to the ceiling of his business.

Bills of several denominations and from a bunch of nations festoon the wide open area above the End of The Trail Bar.

Wavy Davy, really John D. Spangler, 36, hails from Newport Beach, Calif. He is a character.

His nickname comes from his abundance of curly locks. His favorite pastime is tending bar. Like many of his peers, he has a gimmick.

His ability to throw currency to the ceiling and make it stick tickles customers and is building a mounting account for Davy.

"We are just going to wait until we get a bunch more up there, then when it's time for a vacation, we just grab a ladder, fish it down and go," said Davy.

It cost a reporter a buck to find out the trick.

Davy puts a tack through the center of the bill, puts a half dollar against the tack head, folds the bill into a neat package and hurls it point up at the ceiling. It works.

"If it doesn't stick, the customer gets the money back and a free drink," said Davy, who admits he doesn't often give up a free drink on the trick.

Freddie Prinze Faces Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Freddie Prinze, co-star of television's "Chico and the Man," is to appear in Superior Court here Feb. 28 on a misdemeanor charge of driving under the influence of drugs.

Authorities said Wednesday that Prinze pleaded innocent to the charge at a Dec. 29 hearing. He was not held. Prinze, 22, was arrested Nov. 5 in Van Nuys after a highway patrolman said he saw the comic actor driving erratically.

The patrolman said he found a two-ounce prescription bottle of nosedrops in Prinze's pocket. Authorities said tests later showed the comedian's blood contained methaqualone, a tranquilizer.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
PLANNING AND ZONING COMMISSION
The Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, January 11, 1977, at 8:00 P.M. in the City Council Chambers at City Hall, Circleville, Ohio for the purpose of hearing comments on applications for variances in the following cases:
CASE VAR No. 24-76 — Request by Standard Oil Company of 166 Lancaster Pike to vary the maximum total allowable area for pole signs from 30 square feet to 128 square feet on 2 poles in an area zoned G-2.
CASE VAR No. 25-76 — Request by Standard Oil Company of 906 North Court Street to vary the maximum total allowable area for a pole sign from 30 square feet to 61 square feet in an area zoned R-4.

Davy came to this tiny town in Nevada's Silver Mining country from a tavern at nearby Lake Tahoe where he tended bar for several years. That career was preceded by stints as a physical education teacher, life guard, taxi driver, bill collector and more.

Not long ago a friend turned him onto sleepy Dayton, and he's been here since.

His bar was named for the famous statue, the End of the Trail, which now sits in bronze in Visalia, Calif., and in fact at the National Cowboy Museum in Oklahoma City. It first appeared in the San Francisco Exposition in the early 1900s.

"I'm not going to get rich here, but this is simplicity, it's, you know, peace of mind. This probably will be the end of my trail so the name of the bar is appropriate," he said.

Dayton was once a booming mining town. Today all that's left are some old buildings, some old mine works and about 300 people on a crowded day.

Across the street from Davy's is the Lyon County Sheriff's substation, down the street is the Gold Leaf Bar and the Fox Hotel.

What do Daytonites do?

"Well, mostly they just hang around or work in Carson," Davy said.

Davy said his clientele come from nearby Carson City or Fallon or Yerington.

The matches in his ashtrays are complimentary. Not all advertise the End of the Trail. Some come from a nearby brothel. Davy says the several brothels in the area attract customers who also patronize his business.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Talkative Woman Ties Her Tongue

DEAR ABBY: I am a 73-year-old woman. I'm well-educated and have been active and gregarious all my life. Lately I've noticed that people have been avoiding me.

Yesterday my eldest son took me aside and said, "Mother, I don't want to hurt your feelings, but you talk too much."

Abby, I was so hurt, I wanted to die. It came as such a shock to me. I didn't realize that I had been talking more than usual, but apparently I had been. Now I am so self-conscious and inhibited, I hesitate to open my mouth in company. I was much happier when I talked too much and wasn't aware of it.

If there is a happy medium, how

Revisions Of Crime Pay Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Plans are already being made to revise the application form for the state's crime victim program after minor problems arose during the program's first week, officials said.

Although officials hoped the three-page form would be simple for victims to fill out, they feel it does not clearly say applicants can seek up to $50,000 if none of the loss were reimbursed.

Records in the Court of Claims office show that a handful of applicants filed for less than $60,000 during the first week.

However, that number may be low because many court clerks apparently are holding claims for a week before mailing them to Columbus, said Charles Crowley, claims court clerk.

Just how heavy the case load will be probably won't be known for another month, Crowley said.

About $3 million to $5 million is expected to be paid out annually in the program, which allows up to $50,000 in expenses to be reimbursed crime victims regardless of need.

Officials said two applications in the first group received will be disallowed because they involve homicides that occurred before Jan. 3, the effective date of the program.

Several applications have been filed in homicide cases, but none seek the full $50,000 payment.

Some applicants, including a murder victim's widow who was beaten, say additional medical bills will be submitted when medical work is completed.

Crowley said the law allows victims five years after the initial application is processed to seek additional reimbursement.

Interest Free Loans Boosted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Education Association issued more than $300,000 in interest free loans to 351 members in seven school districts that closed when they ran out of money.

OEA President Sally Savage said loans are arranged through local banking institutions with OEA picking up interest charges.

Teachers were eligible to receive loans up to the amount of money they did not receive during the period their districts were closed.

does one find it?

TALKS TOO MUCH

DEAR TALKS: Start by resolving to talk only when you have something of consequence to say. Then resolve never to interrupt anyone. And don't be hurt, dear. Your son did you a kindness.

DEAR ABBY: Who wrote: "Any woman who will accept attention from a married man no matter how lonely, misunderstood, henpecked, mistreated, neglected, or unhappy he claims to be is stupid, cruel, cheap, dishonest, and shortsighted?"

HELENE

DEAR HELENE: I did.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is divorced, recently took a fulltime job. She has a 8-year-old daughter, Cissy. She refuses to get a babysitter for Cissy, saying the child is old enough to take care of herself for the three hours after school until my sister gets home.

I am really worried about my niece. She is a quiet child and I am concerned about the responsibility this thrusts on her right after losing her father (a year ago.) My mother has threatened to report the situation to the child services department in our town.

Sis thinks we're being silly and says she can't afford a sitter even if she felt one was needed. Mother and I both work, so we can't volunteer our services.

I don't want a family fight, but I feel the welfare of the child is at stake. What should we do?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: I agree. An 8-year-old is too young to be "on her own" for three hours, five days a week. If your sister can't find a friendly neighbor to whom Cissy can report after school, a sitter seems the only alternative.

If your sister doesn't agree, and you report her to the child services department, don't prepare for a "mild fight," but for a full-scale family war.

Study Alcohol, Small Intestine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chronic alcoholism's effects on the small intestine is being tested in Ohio State University's College of Medicine.

"Previous work on alcoholism has focused on the liver, but there has been little done on nutrient absorption by the small intestine," said Dr. Hagop S. Mekhjian, associate professor of gastroenterology.

The research is supported by a $45,884 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service's Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration.

Truck-Driving Grandma Back

RIPON, Wis. (AP) — Bernice MacDonald, a truck-driving grandmother who retired with 2 million miles in her log, is back behind the wheel as a driving instructor.

The 5-foot-2 housewife, who was named the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association's "man of the year" in 1968, was hired Dec. 5 as the first woman instructor at the nearby Fox Valley Institute's truck driver school.

Mrs. MacDonald, 53, retired recently from driving to spend more time with her family, which includes two married daughters.

Akron Pair Win Big Lottery Cash

CLEVELAND (AP) — Murrance Moats of Akron, a 78-year-old former tire plant supervisor, says it was his wife, Lena, who bought the ticket that won them $250,000 in the Ohio Lottery's Pot O' Gold contest.

"But we split everything," said Moats after outlasting five other contestants to pick off the big prize Thursday night.

Moats, who was a supervisor in a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plant before he retired, said he enjoys bowling and until a few years ago liked to hunt and fish. But he said he hadn't even thought about what he would do with his new wealth.

"It all just fell into my lap," he said. Jon Warden of Grove City won the top prize of $63,000 in the Double Play game.

Karl Dovich of Hudson won $25,000 in Double Play, and Herbert Gerdes of Cuyahoga Falls took home the $10,000 third prize.

Other winners in the Pot O' Gold contest included James Ochsner of Newport, Ky., $25,000; Elpidio Loredó, Castalia, $11,600; Don Geesey, Bryan, $10,000; Glenn Moon, Massillon, $9,800; and Esther Murray, Coshocton, $10,000.

Ancient Bones Discovered In Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Nine skeletons unearthed in Warren County may be those of people who hunted deer and gathered roots and berries as much as 6,000 years ago, scientists say.

Dr. Jack Schock, an assistant professor of anthropology at Western Kentucky University, said that all but two of the skeletons have been removed from a building site near Plum Springs. A bulldozer exposed the bones, buried between 14 inches and three feet below the surface.

Schock said bone samples will be sent to the University of Georgia for dating by radioactive Carbon 14, the process by which the amount of radiation given off by the remains allows scientists to tell when the people lived.

Schock said the bones could be those of people who lived during the Archaic Period, which dates from 1,000 B.C. to 7,000 B.C.

Schock said those who lived during the era had no pottery and hunted with primitive weapons. They were not farmers, although they may have grown sunflowers or wheat.

Gary Foster, assistant director of archaeological research at Western, said the skeletons recovered last September were of adults in their mid to late 20s, with some possibly older. One of the pits contained only a skull, a case in which the body probably was uncovered and partially reburied, Foster said.

The teeth in one skull were in fairly good condition for their age — good enough to determine that when alive, the man apparently suffered from an abscessed tooth.

Druidism, the ancient religion of the Celtic inhabitants of Gaul and the British Isles, held the oak tree and mistletoe in great reverence and conducted their rituals in oak forests.

Money Sticks For 'Wavy Davy'

DAYTON, Nev. (AP) — Wavy Davy keeps his vacation money pinned to the ceiling of his business.

Bills of several denominations and from a bunch of nations festoon the wide open area above the End of The Trail Bar.

Wavy Davy, really John D. Spangler, 36, hails from Newport Beach, Calif. He is a character.

His nickname comes from his abundance of curly locks. His favorite pastime is tending bar. Like many of his peers, he has a gimmick.

His ability to throw currency to the ceiling and make it stick tickles customers and is building a mounting account for Davy.

"We are just going to wait until we get a bunch more up there, then when it's time for a vacation, we just grab a ladder, fish it down and go," said Davy.

It cost a reporter a buck to find out the trick.

Davy puts a tack through the center of the bill, puts a half dollar against the tack head, folds the bill into a neat package and hurls it point up at the ceiling. It works.

"If it doesn't stick, the customer gets the money back and a free drink," said Davy, who admits he doesn't often give up a free drink on the trick.

Rhodes Can't Fight Gas Pinch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes doesn't have much power at his disposal to help alleviate natural gas shortages among Ohio's industrial users, his top aide says. Thomas J. Moyer, the governor's executive assistant, said Rhodes could ask the Federal Power Commission to allocate more gas to Ohio from interstate lines but not much more.

"The only other thing he can do," Moyer added, "is to change the allocations within Ohio, but that's very difficult to do because it would interfere with the federal allocation system."

He was asked about the enactment of a 1975 law that created the Ohio Energy Resources and Development Agency and empowered the governor to declare a state energy emergency, or in more severe circumstances, an Ohio energy crisis.

Moyer said the statute provides no followup actions by the governor after he declares an emergency, and "from a practical matter" gives him little to do even after the declaration of an energy crisis.

The governor's office was asked about Rhodes' authority after Columbia Gas of Ohio asked the Public Utilities Commission for authority to cut deliveries to small business customers using 200,000 cubic feet or more of gas monthly, by 10 to 30 per cent.

If approved, cuts would be extended for the first time to nearly 10,000 stores, offices, schools, public agencies, and small manufacturing plants across the state.

Rhodes requested C. Luther Heckman, chairman of the utilities commission, and Robert S. Ryan, executive director of ERDA, to assess the severity of the shortages around the state and report back to him.

Moyer said the governor set no time limit for the two agencies to report their findings but added "if they discover a real problem, the governor will hear about it very quickly."

Heckman said earlier this week that while Columbia is experiencing major problems, it appeared some other gas utilities, at least, were meeting demands with little difficulty.

Columbia is a major provider of natural gas, serving customers in 82 of Ohio's 88 counties. Part of its problem also is attributed to its heavy reliance on one supplier—Columbia Gas Transmission System, Inc.—which has its allocations controlled by the Federal Power Commission.

As of Jan. 1, Columbia had cut off all gas to those heavy industries which utilize boilers or have processes capable of converting to oil, coal, propane, or other alternate fuels.

The company earlier imposed a 50 per cent reduction for industries which cannot use alternate fuels.

Ohio's second largest gas utility, East Ohio Gas Co., has imposed a 10 per cent cut on its major industrial users. It apparently has caused few, if any problems, officials said.

Traffic Cases Head Juvenile Court Docket

In Juvenile Court of Pickaway County recently, cases have been heard on traffic charges, as well as other various charges.

A 15-year-old Circleville boy, charged with assault was given three days detention and two years of probation. Another boy, 15, from the area was charged with criminal trespassing and disorderly conduct. He was given two years of probation and 50 community work hours.

An 11-year-old boy, charged with excessive absence was sentenced to ten days of detention, suspended on the condition that he attend school regularly. He is on two years of probation and must complete 50 community work hours.

Disorderly conduct and intoxication charges on a 16-year-old boy gave him 30 days of detention, with 29 suspended, one year probation, 50 community work hours and an order not to associate with one person or frequent one place of business.

Peggy L. Reynolds, 16, Route 1, Stoutsville, was charged with failure to yield and no operator's license. She was given a $10 fine, license suspended for 30 days after drivers training or her 18th birthday.

Cynthia A. George, 15, Route 1, Williamsport, was charged with no operator's license. Her license was suspended for six months after completing drivers training or after her 18th birthday.

The case was dismissed after two years of probation on a 15-year-old girl charged with excessive absence.

A Dublin 16-year-old boy, charged with drug abuse, was given a suspended temporary sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission (OYC), one year probation, $100 fine and ordered not to associate with two certain persons.

An aggravated burglary charge on a 16-year-old boy gave him a sentence to the permanent care of the OYC after an order for release from the Pickaway County Juvenile Detention Center.

A 17-year-old Amanda Girl, charged with theft was given a suspended sentence to the permanent care of the OYC, 30 days detention, 29 suspended, two years of probation, ordered not to frequent two places of business, not to associate with one boy, 50 community work hours and $200 restitution.

A 17-year-old Circleville boy, charged with failure to secure a dangerous ordinance was given a suspended sentence to the permanent care of the OYC, 30 days detention, 20 suspended and 50 community work hours.

Orville J. Radabaugh, 16, 1878 Walnut Creek Pike, charged with no operator's license was given a $25 fine, license suspended six months after drivers training or his 18th birthday.

The case was dismissed on a 16-year-old boy charged with violation of probation because of lack of prosecution.

Daniel Edward Calton, 20902 Ringgold-Southern Road, charged with reckless operation, was given a $5 fine and license suspended from Dec. 30 to Jan. 13. He may drive to school and work and must attend traffic school.

A boy with a contributing to delinquency charge was given 90 days detention on the condition that he continue consultation at the Pickaway County Workshop for the Mentally Retarded. He was given probation for two years.

John M. Bunger, Williamsport, charged with no operator's license, was given a $25 fine suspended and his license suspended six months after completing drivers training or his 18th birthday.

Local Couple Owns Talkative Parakeet

PRETTY BOY'S A TALKER — A 6-year-old parakeet owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, 1081 Georgia Road, can say well over 120 words and phrases. The bird becomes so talkative sometimes at night his cage has to be covered to muffle the sound.

Pretty Boy, a 6-year-old parakeet that is the pet of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Reynolds, is a motor mouth.

The bird has a vocabulary of well over 120 words and phrases, practically all of which the Reynolds have recorded on their tape recorder.

The bird originally was owned by Mrs. Reynolds' father, Kelsey Butler. During the year Pretty Boy was with Mr. Butler, he learned over 100 words.

Pretty Boy is quite adept at picking up new words and phrases and never ceases to amaze his owners by repeating some phrase or word he has acquired just by listening to their everyday conversation with each other and friends and neighbors.

Among the phrases that he has learned are:

Mr. Reynolds is an employee of Owens-Illinois and has been with the company 35 years. Formerly from Charleston, W. Va., they moved here when the local O-I plant opened.

He is an avid hunter and fisherman although he is still recuperating from open heart surgery performed on him at Cleveland Clinic last spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds have one daughter, Georganna, who lives at Bay City, Mich.; two sons, Arthur Wiley, Whisler and Bill Wiley, Glendenning, W. Va.

Army Promotes Dole Enlistment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Army recruiting director promises that Sen. Bob Dole won't be getting any more letters from the Army urging him to sign up.

The Kansas Republican, after returning from vacation, found a recruitment notice in his mail.

An aide said Thursday that he in effect "told the Army, 'try me in 1980, I still have a job.'"

Col. Kenneth M. Miller of the Army Recruiting Command at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., explained in a letter to the senator that someone apparently submitted Dole's name on a recruiting postcard that appeared in a national magazine in September.

Dole, 53, served in the Army during World War II and was wounded in Italy, losing most of the use of his right arm.

Army Promotes Dole Enlistment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Army recruiting director promises that Sen. Bob Dole won't be getting any more letters from the Army urging him to sign up.

The Kansas Republican, after returning from vacation, found a recruitment notice in his mail.

An aide said Thursday that he in effect "told the Army, 'try me in 1980, I still have a job.'"

Col. Kenneth M. Miller of the Army Recruiting Command at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., explained in a letter to the senator that someone apparently submitted Dole's name on a recruiting postcard that appeared in a national magazine in September.

Dole, 53, served in the Army during World War II and was wounded in Italy, losing most of the use of his right arm.

Minister Against Coffee Boycott

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton Presbyterian minister has added a new twist to the recent furor over increasing coffee prices. He wants you to boycott the boycott.

The Rev. Richard Righter, who doesn't drink coffee, says you should drink more than ever to help the poor people in coffee-producing nations.

"If you want to help people who are the neediest in the world, drink coffee and bring about justice," said the Rev. Mr. Righter. "The high price means those very poor countries that produce coffee will be able to get a fair price for it. I'm going to urge people to buy coffee."

Dayton Seeking 2003 World's Fair

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton is going after the 2003 World's Fair for the Gem City.

"The year 2003 may seem like a long way off," said Stephen J. Carter, a Dayton architect who has organized goals for the project, "but a project this important, and of this magnitude, needs a strong base, and a long time to develop."

So far, Dayton Jaycees, the Chamber of Commerce, the Leadership Dayton program and other groups have been receptive to the challenge, Carter said.

The year 2003 was selected because it marks the 100th anniversary of the invention of the airplane in Dayton by Wilbur and Orville Wright.

In 1975, 27 million workers were involved in disputes backed by strikes or lockouts compared with 26 million in 1974, in 60 countries covered in a survey by the International Labour Organization.

Congregations Prove Unique

NEW YORK (AP) — A religious congregation is a unique mix of the human equation — a variety of ages, races, social and economic levels, successes, failures, hurts, joys, winners, victims — all come together before the mystery of existence.

"An astonishing spectrum," says the Rev. Dr. James Wharton, long-time Bible scholar, adding that the congregational composite is a "grouping without parallel elsewhere in our society."

It is the place, he says, where theology, once called the queen of sciences but now fallen into patterns of detached, academic objectivity, must start anew if it is to serve its purpose and regain its stature.

"We need to go to school to you," he told a recent conference of church pastors at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo. He said the worshipping congregations have themselves become the "prime learning source" for Christian scholarship which in modern times has lost touch with its own special calling — to illuminate life's meaning.

He said that purpose has shriveled in the universities and seminaries, been sidelined into purely rational specialties and scientific methodology, tagging along with the deterministic academic disciplines so that theology has become "fawning, obsequious" before them, without its own integrity.

Through that collapse, he said, "the most interesting questions of human existence have eluded the scholarly apparatus altogether" despite vast amounts of work in historical and natural sciences. "That leaves us with the extraordinary situation that more is being learned about human life and its social, political and natural environment than ever before — and yet less serious thinking about the total human reality is going on than in the day of Thomas Aquinas."

The reference was to the 13th century Christian thinker whose monumental work systematized logic behind church concepts.

But these fundamental concerns still are confronted in the thousands of congregations across the country, in those gatherings of all sorts of people, Dr. Wharton said. "They are drawn together by what each of them at one level of understanding or another ... recognize as ultimate."

"They are clustered together about

God by a unique understanding of what that strange word means. It is a grouping of human beings for whom the fundamental questions of what is human, what it's all about are right there at stage center ... the highest why's and how's and to what ends."

That focus on purpose and point of life as endowed by God, going on week-after-week in the vast network of miscellaneous mingled millions of people, is a process unmatched anywhere in the world, Dr. Wharton said. He added it has become the most promising center for restoring theology to its strength.

Before the City of Bellefontaine in Logan County was occupied by white men, a Shawnee Indian Village called Blue Jacket's Town stood on the site. Blue Jacket was a white man named Marmaduke Swearingen who was captured by the Shawnee when he was 17 and brought to Ohio, the Indians calling him Blue Jacket after a blue hunting jacket he wore. Blue Jacket became a famed leader of the Shawnees and played an active part in the strife between the Indians and whites.—AP

SOUTH OF THE SAHARA

Does he long for the hot breezes and wide spaces south of the Sahara? Can he remember the feeling of free air rushing past, as he ran with his fellows?

Oh, it's a lovely zoo, wide and airy. The giraffe's home duplicates his native habitat. But, as he nibbles among the tree-tops, I wonder. Does he wish for a quiet stream?

I know what it's like to feel displaced. When first I came to this country, I was not at home with the language and unfamiliar with its customs. Often I felt confused and bewildered.

The one place that was no stranger to me was my church. Here, although the words were foreign, I recognized well-known melodies and litanies and the sure feeling of God's love.

If you feel disturbed and disoriented by events in your life, turn to the one place that knows no aliens. Your church has a welcome for everyone. God's love is universal.

Minister Against Coffee Boycott

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton Presbyterian minister has added a new twist to the recent furor over increasing coffee prices. He wants you to boycott the boycott.

The Rev. Richard Righter, who doesn't drink coffee, says you should drink more than ever to help the poor people in coffee-producing nations.

"If you want to help people who are the neediest in the world, drink coffee and bring about justice," said the Rev. Mr. Righter. "The high price means those very poor countries that produce coffee will be able to get a fair price for it. I'm going to urge people to buy coffee."

Tuesday; Bible Study on Romans 7 p.m. Wednesday; business conference 7 p.m. Wednesday; adult ensemble practice 8 p.m. Wednesday; outreach visitation 7 p.m. Thursday; bus ministry 9 a.m. Saturday.

Dr. Frank Irvine's sermon topic Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church will be "On Accepting Responsibility."

The Rev. David Frazer will be preaching the sermon entitled, "Am I My Master's Keeper?" Sunday at Community United Methodist Church.

Pastor Carl Zehner will deliver the sermon, "Love In Six Dimensions" Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church. Church activities during the week include the Senior Luther League at the home of Miss Vicki Truex, 431 Glenmont Court 6 p.m. Sunday; church council meeting 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the church parlor; handbell choir rehearsal 1:30 p.m. Wednesday; carol choir rehearsal 4 p.m. Wednesday; handbell choir rehearsal 6:30 p.m. Thursday and adult choir rehearsal 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

"Living Through a Revolution" will be the sermon topic at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Sunday.

The Williamsport Church of Christ in Christian Union will hold a youth revival Sunday, Jan. 9, through Saturday, Jan. 15.

The Sunday service will begin at 7 p.m., and all other evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Joe Leatherwood of Asheville.

Special music will be provided by the Gospels from the First Church of Christ in Christian Union, Circleville.

Weekend Revival Set At Emmett Chapel Church

The Rev. Jenne is currently pastor of the Washington Avenue United Methodist Church in Columbus. The song service each evening will be led by the present pastor Robert P. Miller Sr. There will be special music provided by the Ladies Trio of the Church, Mr. Miller and others. Dayton Seeking 2003 World's Fair

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton is going after the 2003 World's Fair for the Gem City.

"The year 2003 may seem like a long way off," said Stephen J. Carter, a Dayton architect who has organized goals for the project, "but a project this important, and of this magnitude, needs a strong base, and a long time to develop."

So far, Dayton Jaycees, the Chamber of Commerce, the Leadership Dayton program and other groups have been receptive to the challenge, Carter said.

The year 2003 was selected because it marks the 100th anniversary of the invention of the airplane in Dayton by Wilbur and Orville Wright.

In 1975, 27 million workers were involved in disputes backed by strikes or lockouts compared with 26 million in 1974, in 60 countries covered in a survey by the International Labour Organization.

Congregations Prove Unique

NEW YORK (AP) — A religious congregation is a unique mix of the human equation — a variety of ages, races, social and economic levels, successes, failures, hurts, joys, winners, victims — all come together before the mystery of existence.

"An astonishing spectrum," says the Rev. Dr. James Wharton, long-time Bible scholar, adding that the congregational composite is a "grouping without parallel elsewhere in our society."

It is the place, he says, where theology, once called the queen of sciences but now fallen into patterns of detached, academic objectivity, must start anew if it is to serve its purpose and regain its stature.

"We need to go to school to you," he told a recent conference of church pastors at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo. He said the worshipping congregations have themselves become the "prime learning source" for Christian scholarship which in modern times has lost touch with its own special calling — to illuminate life's meaning.

He said that purpose has shriveled in the universities and seminaries, been sidelined into purely rational specialties and scientific methodology, tagging along with the deterministic academic disciplines so that theology has become "fawning, obsequious" before them, without its own integrity.

Through that collapse, he said, "the most interesting questions of human existence have eluded the scholarly apparatus altogether" despite vast amounts of work in historical and natural sciences. "That leaves us with the extraordinary situation that more is being learned about human life and its social, political and natural environment than ever before — and yet less serious thinking about the total human reality is going on than in the day of Thomas Aquinas."

The reference was to the 13th century Christian thinker whose monumental work systematized logic behind church concepts.

But these fundamental concerns still are confronted in the thousands of congregations across the country, in those gatherings of all sorts of people, Dr. Wharton said. "They are drawn together by what each of them at one level of understanding or another ... recognize as ultimate."

"They are clustered together about

God by a unique understanding of what that strange word means. It is a grouping of human beings for whom the fundamental questions of what is human, what it's all about are right there at stage center ... the highest why's and how's and to what ends."

That focus on purpose and point of life as endowed by God, going on week-after-week in the vast network of miscellaneous mingled millions of people, is a process unmatched anywhere in the world, Dr. Wharton said. He added it has become the most promising center for restoring theology to its strength.

Before the City of Bellefontaine in Logan County was occupied by white men, a Shawnee Indian Village called Blue Jacket's Town stood on the site. Blue Jacket was a white man named Marmaduke Swearingen who was captured by the Shawnee when he was 17 and brought to Ohio, the Indians calling him Blue Jacket after a blue hunting jacket he wore. Blue Jacket became a famed leader of the Shawnees and played an active part in the strife between the Indians and whites.—AP

Does he long for the hot breezes and wide spaces south of the Sahara? Can he remember the feeling of free air rushing past, as he ran with his fellows?

Oh, it's a lovely zoo, wide and airy. The giraffe's home duplicates his native habitat. But, as he nibbles among the tree-tops, I wonder. Does he wish for a quiet stream?

I know what it's like to feel displaced. When first I came to this country, I was not at home with the language and unfamiliar with its customs. Often I felt confused and bewildered.

The one place that was no stranger to me was my church. Here, although the words were foreign, I recognized well-known melodies and litanies and the sure feeling of God's love.

If you feel disturbed and disoriented by events in your life, turn to the one place that knows no aliens. Your church has a welcome for everyone. God's love is universal.

make that a resolution for 1977.

Architecture can often tell the story of a country. For some interesting browsing, "Architecture In America" by Kidder Smith is a pictorial history of this country in 2 volumes.

Another way to look at America is by way of a trip through her seasons. "The American Seasons" by Edwin W. Teale is a rich harvest of nature across our land.

"Guale, The Golden Coast Of Georgia" edited by Kenneth Brower is a browser's delight that proves America still has some of the Earth's wild places.

In the other extreme of climate, the northern state of the United States is heralded in "Alaska: High Roads To Adventure" published by National Geographic.

"London" is the subject of the newest Time-Life Great Cities series. Beautiful illustrations and good text make it interesting reading.

The unusual holds a fascination for readers. "Strange Stories, Amazing Facts" from Reader's Digest covers the spectrum from hard science to ghost stories. It's a wondrous mixture of reading enjoyment.

Beautiful and informative, "Myths" by Alexander Eliot will provide many hours of entertainment on a cold night.

Sharks have come into their own since "Jaws." "Man-Eating Sharks" edited by Felix Dennis is a compilation of shark-attacks, shark-facts, and shark-legend. It's illustrated.

New from Time-Life Wild World of Animals series is the volume "Reptiles And Amphibians." The illustrations are beautiful color photos.

For parents, two new titles offer advice on how to parent better! "Effective Parenting" by Joan Beck is a guide to making child care easier and happier for today's parents.

"P.E.T. In Action" by Dr. Thomas Gordon discusses new problems, insights and solutions in Parent Effectiveness Training.

Awesome and thought-provoking, "Gramp" by Mark and Dan Jury is a pictorial record of one family's encounter with the reality of dying.

Leslie McFarlane was the ghost writer for the popular Hardy Boys series. "Ghost Of The Hardy Boys" is his autobiography. It's filled with good humor and heartwarming anecdotes.

For the baseball fans, "Out Of Left Field" by Adelman and Hall is the story of Willie Sturgell and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pepper Rogers, the colorful college football coach has written his story. Like its subject, "Pepper" is full of surprises, brash humor, practical insights and high spirits.

New "how-to" books include "Masonry" from the Time-Life Home Repairs series, "Country Comforts", designs for the homestead by Bruyere and Inwood, and "Favorite Houseplants" from Better Homes And Gardens.

For the readers of fiction, we have two new Double D western tales: "Nothing But A Drifter" by Lee Hoffman and "Delay At Parson's Flat" by Bob Barrett.

Science fiction adds "The Litany Of Sh'reev" by Watkins and Snyder and "Down Here In The Dream Quarter" by Barry Malzberg.

"Dreamer Beware" by Ruth Wissmann is a novel of romantic suspense. Psychic power exerts a strange force over the heroine.

Trevelian, author of "The Eiger Sanction" has written another strong tale of death and danger. "The Main" is a study in violence taut with suspense.

Bacteria Possible Link To Deaths

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Bacteria that cause disease in turkeys and parrots have been linked to Legionnaires' disease, the still unsolved ailment that killed 29 persons in Philadelphia last summer, government researchers said.

Tests on the blood serum of three patients out of four and a pathologist who became ill while studying victims' tissue samples showed antibodies that fight against bacteria called chlamydiae, the researchers said Thursday.

Dr. Leslie Page, a microbiologist at the National Animal Disease Laboratory here, emphasized that the test findings aren't conclusive. But he added that the suggestion of the involvement of chlamydiae is strong enough to schedule more extensive work.

405 Idled By Teacher Walkout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two separate strikes continued to idle 405 teachers in two northeastern Ohio school districts Thursday and negotiations in the two contract disputes showed little progress towards settlement.

About 133 teachers are striking in the Sheffield-Sheffield Lake district in Lorain County and another 272 have walked out in the Howland district in Trumbull County.

In the Sheffield dispute, Supt. Richard Nace said about 2,500 of the district's 2,800 pupils stayed home Thursday. He said that teachers picketed around bus garages and prevented buses from picking up pupils.

Base pay at the Sheffield district is $8,250 and school board officials say they don't have enough money to afford the teachers' demand for a $492 a year pay raise. The board has offered and additional $250 a year.

In the Howland district, school officials say that the teachers have asked for an increase to bring their base salary up to $8,450 a year.

Howland residents will have another chance March 22 to vote on a 7.9-mill levy increase which school officials say is necessary to run the schools. There are about 5,400 pupils in the Howland district.

Meanwhile, the Cincinnati Federation of Teachers had presented a bargaining package to the Cincinnati school board. The package includes demands for a cost-of-living salary increase, binding arbitration of grievances and class size maximums.

The proposal also sought strict discipline plus the right of teachers to share in administrative decisions. The Cincinnati Federation of Teachers won the right this year to represent 3,343 teachers instead of the old bargaining unit, the Cincinnati Teachers Association.

'Dirty Harry' To Disappear

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Clint Eastwood says there probably will be no more "Dirty Harry" movies.

The new film, entitled "The Gauntlet," will feature Eastwood as an Arizona detective called Ben Shockley.

ROTARY SPEAKER — Dr. John Sharp, left was introduced as the guest speaker at the Thursday noon meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club. Dr. Sharp is in agriculture Economics, specializing in grain marketing. Sharp and Pickaway County Extension Agent George Hamrick, right, are currently conducting a marketing school for interested farmers in the area at the 4-H and Grange building. The 27 hours of classroom instruction is being attended by approximately 40 farmers. Dr. Sharp brought out the fact that in 1972, 15 per cent of the farm income was derived from grain and amounted to approximately 40 million dollars. Agriculture is the largest industry in the county. This is the fourth year of existence for the school and it has allowed farmers to increase their profits up to 60 cents per bushel on wheat alone.

We are for — and always will be — anything that in our humble opinion will benefit the community and the people in it — especially the youngsters.

Certain people and groups have been working hard to get a new Y built on Nicholas Drive and it is definitely worthwhile.

We have some young people now who are swimmers, and in order to keep in shape and be part of a team they get up in the early hours of the morning and travel to the Chillicothe Y to get their practice — and then make it back home in time to go to school.

When the Y is completed here, it will correct this situation and make it better all the way around.

It is not just the fact that it will have a new swimming pool and gym but many other things will be provided.

A Y is not just for the kids — as a lot of people think — but has something for everyone.

It is a big asset to a community and let's hope that we can get started on ours as soon as possible and get it into operation.

Our "fearless" forecast — The Tigers will shake the Lions hopes . . . At this time we are not sure of the games that will be played tonight . . . In the Super Bowl, the Purple Gang will prove they are Pros as the Raiders will find out.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Wide-Open Super Bowl Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Super Bowl XI will be as much a territorial battle in the secondary as it is in the face-to-face pit of the scrimmage line.

"When I'm out there, I feel that the field is mine," says Minnesota wide receiver Ahmad Rashad.

"My job is a positive one, to catch a football. The other guy's is a negative one, to keep me from catching it," says Oakland wide receiver Cliff Branch.

"When someone catches a pass in my area, it is an embarrassment to me. And I do not like to be embarrassed," says Minnesota cornerback Nate Wright.

"If I can make the man I'm covering think about me for just an instant and break his concentration, half the battle is won," says Oakland safety George Atkinson.

It is, to understate the matter, going to be one heck of a battle out there on Sunday in the fly patterns, the crossing routes, the zone seams of Super Bowl XI.

When the quarterbacks — Fran Tarkenton of the Vikings and Ken Stabler of the Raiders — stop their "hut-hut" chatter at the line and the ball is snapped, the taunting begins in those far-away regions where receivers and defenders try to outguess, outpsyche and outrun each other.

"Oh, yeah, there's an awful lot of talk goin' on out there," says Branch, an All-Pro wide receiver rated as Oakland's big-play man. "The defensive backs are trying to intimidate you, to get inside your head.

"If they can do that, they can make you louse up your route or break stride or miss a step or look his way or something. I can remember hearing guys shouting things like, 'You better not turn your back on me or you're gonna get hurt,' or 'Here I come, baby!'"

Fortunately for Branch, he has roomed for the past several years with Atkinson, the master of intimidation, and has learned the art of the counter-attack.

"The best thing you can do, except maybe for ignoring the guy altogether, is to give it back to him, to try to get inside his head and mess him up," Branch says.

"For example, if a guy's been giving it to me about how he's gonna get to me, I might yell back, 'Don't you blink, man, or I'm by you. I'm in the end zone. I'm gone.'"

Atkinson is nothing like the cut-throat, the intense, angry man he is pictured as being. He may seem to have that killer instinct on the field — "let's just say I'm very aggressive" — but off it he is extraordinarily easygoing. He has an infectious laugh and a perpetual twinkle in eyes sitting behind violet-colored glasses. "I'm a very compassionate fellow."

And what is it that Atkinson says to the enemy receivers which has them quaking in their sneakers and sneaking looks behind them as they charge onto his turf?

"Oh, I ask them about the best discos in town," he laughs.

He says he can look into a man's eyes at the start of the game, sometimes even before the start, and get an indication whether intimidation will work.

"If I think it will, I start talkin' to him right away," Atkinson says. And if it doesn't seem to be working? "Then I'll keep talkin' to him — but up real close."

Rashad doesn't sound like the type to give ground just because the other guy's talking up a storm. "Atkinson is a good friend of mine," says the Vikings' pass catcher. "I know him off the field. He plays a rough style. But let's face it. Football is rough. You can't let it get to you. I look forward to a nice, rough, tough game."

Sammy White, the Vikings' other star wide receiver, looks forward to "a pretty good day if I'm able to go one-on-one with anybody. I'm not worried about any of their guys giving me a cheap shot. We can't worry about these things."

Oakland's No. 1 receiver this year was tight end Dave Casper. He doesn't seem to be part of the high-powered talking crew.

"Naw, I don't listen to them, I don't talk back to them. I just go out there and try to catch passes off them," he says. "The only other thing I might do out there, when they're chattering away, is maybe laugh at them...at what they're saying, that is."

Cincinnati Reds Must Loosen Purse

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are financially able to afford substantial salary increases for their top stars in order to prevent any further free agent problems, according to Reds catcher Johnny Bench.

"I realize he (club president Bob Howsam) has convictions and principles," said Bench. "I don't know where we're going. If he wants to keep the Reds as they are now, he's going to have to sign everybody to great contracts."

season's NCAA champions, the Hoosiers are losing as much as they are winning this season. Thursday night's 80-63 Big Ten loss to Purdue marked Indiana's fifth setback in 10 games this season — a dramatic turnaround from last year's 32-0 record.

"We are not a great team," says Knight, "and teams that aren't great are going to get hurt some time."

There has been internal strife on the defending national champions as well. Some players have walked off the squad and even All-American center Kent Benson has not been spared Knight's acid tongue.

Purdue Coach Fred Schaus, had a revenge motive Thursday night. He remembered a 104-71 beating from Indiana two seasons ago.

"What a difference in two years!" Schaus exclaimed. "It was a real juicy win for us, especially when we think of the way they rubbed it in two years ago."

Elsewhere in college basketball, top-ranked San Francisco blitzed Portland

95-73; No. 5 Michigan routed Northwestern 102-65; No. 11 Arizona edged San Diego State 80-77, and No. 20 Memphis State beat Oklahoma City 82-72.

A 16-point scoring burst in the first half, sparked by Walter Jordan and Bruce Parkinson, was the impetus Purdue needed to put away Indiana. The loss snapped a 37-game winning streak in Big Ten play for the Hoosiers.

Winford Boynes scored 20 points, leading San Francisco past Portland. The Dons, opening their West Coast Athletic Conference season, shot 55 per cent from the field and had a 46-38 rebounding edge.

Rickey Green scored 20 points and John Robinson 18, leading Michigan over Northwestern. It was a onesided game throughout as the Wolverines won their 14th straight over Northwestern, dating back to 1969.

Herman Harris scored 22 points and Gary Harrison's basket in the last two minutes put Arizona ahead to stay in the Wildcats' victory over San Diego State.

Dexter Reed and James Bradley each scored 24 points, pacing Memphis State's triumph over Oklahoma City. Reed and Bradley combined for eight points in the first four minutes of the second half as the Tigers moved into a 56-46 lead and Oklahoma City could get no closer.

In other games, Audie Matthews scored 28 points as Illinois beat Ohio State 89-72; Greg Kelser's 20 points led Michigan State over Wisconsin 84-61; Mike Schultz scored 21 points as Houston whipped Houston Baptist 111-79, and James Edwards scored 15 points in the first six minutes of the second half, leading Washington to an 85-75 victory over California.

Circleville Frosh Rally To Win

A furious fourth quarter rally by the Teays Valley 8th grade Vikings paid off with a 34-30 win over Westfall Thursday night, the seventh consecutive win without a loss for the Vikes.

However, Westfall captured the 7th grade contest with an impressive 41-19 win over Teays Valley.

Both games were played at Westfall. The young Mustangs opened a 12-8 lead after the first period of the 8th grade game, and extended it to 18-12 at the half. The Vikes cut the margin by one, 25-20 after three periods, before winning the game in the final quarter.

Joe Chandler paced the win with 12 points, Rusty Sturgell had 10, Pat Roese scored five, Perry Parsons hit for four, and Mike Roberts and Bill Neal had two each.

Jerry Mowery was high point man for Westfall with 18 points. Greg Beard hit six, Matt Gibson five and Ronnie Puckett one.

Westfall's 7th graders stormed to leads of 7-2 after their first period, 18-7 at the half, and 31-10 after three quarters enroute to the 41-19 win.

Rivers paced the Mustangs with nine points, Galloway had eight, Strahler six, Roberts five, Clemmons four, Hill three, Sherrod and Vanderpool two while Davis and Reeser each had one.

Mike Moss scored eight for Teays Valley, Robby East hit four, Jay Olson and Dave Accord had two each, and Kevin Parsons and Robert Copley each scored a point.

The TV 7th graders are 1-5 on the year.

Both Viking teams will be in action Tuesday when they host Hamilton Twp. The 7th grade game begins at 6:30 p.m.

Westfall's seventh graders are now 5-2 and the eighth graders are now 5-1. Both teams will be at Adena Monday.

Cincinnati Reds Must Loosen Purse

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are financially able to afford substantial salary increases for their top stars in order to prevent any further free agent problems, according to Reds catcher Johnny Bench.

"I realize he (club president Bob Howsam) has convictions and principles," said Bench. "I don't know where we're going. If he wants to keep the Reds as they are now, he's going to have to sign everybody to great contracts."

season's NCAA champions, the Hoosiers are losing as much as they are winning this season. Thursday night's 80-63 Big Ten loss to Purdue marked Indiana's fifth setback in 10 games this season — a dramatic turnaround from last year's 32-0 record.

"We are not a great team," says Knight, "and teams that aren't great are going to get hurt some time."

There has been internal strife on the defending national champions as well. Some players have walked off the squad and even All-American center Kent Benson has not been spared Knight's acid tongue.

Purdue Coach Fred Schaus, had a revenge motive Thursday night. He remembered a 104-71 beating from Indiana two seasons ago.

"What a difference in two years!" Schaus exclaimed. "It was a real juicy win for us, especially when we think of the way they rubbed it in two years ago."

Teays Valley Girls Rip Olentangy

Teays Valley asserted its basketball skills at Olentangy Thursday night as the varsity rolled to a 75-37 win and the reserves captured a 44-9 decision.

The win ups the Vikes' record to 5-1 and 4-1 in the Metro League. The reserves are 3-3.

Perri Martin scored 21 points, grabbed nine rebounds and made seven steals to pace the victory.

Rita Slone hit for 20 points and had nine steals, Debbie Baxter scored 13 points and had nine steals and seven rebounds, Florie Mesner scored 7 points and had five rebounds, Willie Reichelderfer scored six points and had five rebounds, Suzy Jones scored four points with eight rebounds, and Patty Maciejewski scored four points.

Baxter and Slone led the team in assists with five each.

Teays Valley rolled to a 14-10 lead after the first period and extended it to 39-18 at the half. With the second team playing much of the second half, the Vikes rolled to a 57-25 lead after three periods.

The second team JV's recorded much playing time in the lopsided win.

The Vikes had a 14-2 lead after the first period, 30-4 at the half, and 40-8 after three periods.

P.J. Stiles led the win with 12 points and 12 rebounds.

Nancy Kraft scored nine with eight rebounds, Kelly Martin scored eight with eight rebounds, Erica Stewart scored six, Chris Adkinson scored four, Vickie Crumley and Lorraine Hill scored two each and Micki Brust scored a point.

Crumley led the team in steals with seven.

Both teams will be in action Thursday when they host Dublin in a Metro League tangle. The reserve game is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m., and the varsity contest will follow.

95-73; No. 5 Michigan routed Northwestern 102-65; No. 11 Arizona edged San Diego State 80-77, and No. 20 Memphis State beat Oklahoma City 82-72.

A 16-point scoring burst in the first half, sparked by Walter Jordan and Bruce Parkinson, was the impetus Purdue needed to put away Indiana. The loss snapped a 37-game winning streak in Big Ten play for the Hoosiers.

Winford Boynes scored 20 points, leading San Francisco past Portland. The Dons, opening their West Coast Athletic Conference season, shot 55 per cent from the field and had a 46-38 rebounding edge.

Rickey Green scored 20 points and John Robinson 18, leading Michigan over Northwestern. It was a onesided game throughout as the Wolverines won their 14th straight over Northwestern, dating back to 1969.

Herman Harris scored 22 points and Gary Harrison's basket in the last two minutes put Arizona ahead to stay in the Wildcats' victory over San Diego State.

Dexter Reed and James Bradley each scored 24 points, pacing Memphis State's triumph over Oklahoma City. Reed and Bradley combined for eight points in the first four minutes of the second half as the Tigers moved into a 56-46 lead and Oklahoma City could get no closer.

In other games, Audie Matthews scored 28 points as Illinois beat Ohio State 89-72; Greg Kelsner's 20 points led Michigan State over Wisconsin 84-61; Mike Schultz scored 21 points as Houston whipped Houston Baptist 111-79, and James Edwards scored 15 points in the first six minutes of the second half, leading Washington to an 85-75 victory over California.

Circleville Frosh Rally To Win

Circleville's freshmen rallied in the fourth quarter to take a 32-29 decision over Washington C.H. on the Blue Lions' court.

The Tigers trailed 25-20 going into the final canto and came roaring back.

Danny Martin paced the Tigers with 13 points, Mark Morrison added six while Anthony Smith and Keith Lewis both netted five and Mike Harrison had three.

Circleville is now 5-1 and will host Madison Plains 4:30 p.m. Monday at the Mill St. gym.

Big Ten Collisions Leave Bloody Trail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The last time two Big Ten teams played each other in basketball was the very last game of the 1975-76 season when Indiana beat Michigan for the NCAA title.
Now, a few months and several graduated stars later, the Hoosiers are just another conference member while Michigan is aiming not only for a Big Ten title, but a national crown.
The conference season opened Thursday night with Michigan, Purdue, Illinois and Michigan State posting victories and Northwestern, Indiana, Ohio State and Wisconsin absorbing losses. Iowa and Minnesota

Canadiens Blast Sabres In NHL, 9-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"The only thing that might have saved us tonight," said Buffalo Coach Floyd Smith, "is if we had been snowbound in Chicago after our game Wednesday night. They outthrust us, and just outplayed us."
"They" are the Montreal Canadiens, who blasted Smith's Sabres 9-2 Thursday night in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

"It was a collective effort from everybody on our club," said Sabres left wing Rick Martin. "We all fell asleep at the same time."
That was some time just after the opening faceoff. The Canadiens sped to a 5-1 lead after the first period, skating circles around the entire Buffalo team, and, even surprising themselves.

"I certainly didn't expect to score nine goals in the building of a team that was playing defense the way Buffalo has been playing all year," said Montreal's Pete Mahovlich. "We would have had to have been out of our minds to come into this building and expect to do what we did."

The Canadiens opened their first-period lead on goals by Guy Lafleur, Rejean Houle, Larry Robinson, Yvon Lambert and Jacques Lemaire. Guy Lapointe and Lafleur scored in the second period, and Doug Jarvis and Mario Tremblay tallied in the final period.

In the other National Hockey League games, the Philadelphia Flyers blasted the St. Louis Blues 7-1, the Pittsburgh Penguins and Washington Capitals tied 3-3, and the Minnesota North Stars crushed the Detroit Red Wings 7-2.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was the last day that the antagonists — Minnesota's poised Vikings and Oakland's antsy Raiders — were to be put on public display prior to Sunday's Super Bowl.

In the mess hall of a fashionable hotel in Costa Mesa — the Vikings' headquarters — waiters dumped fresh fruit, hash brown potatoes, scrambled eggs and link sausage on the plates of hungry newsmen.

At a white-covered head table, a somber Bud Grant sat, his steely eyes watching rain drops beat against the window panes.

"Coach," said one reporter, gulping down a mouthful of egg, "does the rain bother you?"

"Naw," replied the Minnesota coach, who hails from snow country. "At least, you don't have to shovel the stuff. It just goes away."

"We didn't come to sunny California to play indoors."

There was a titter of laughter. An hour and a half later, 10 miles away, in Newport Beach, Oakland's pillowy John Madden found himself faced with a similar question.

"I sure as heck don't like rain," he said. "Rain makes the football slippery. It hampers passing."

Pampered newsmen have been bused some 95 miles daily from their own hotel headquarters to the temporary homes of the two teams and then back again.

They are fed as if the Russians were landing at Marina Del Rey.

Less than an hour after Minnesota's hefty breakfast, they were facing another spread in Newport Beach fit for a Roman emperor — crepes, cut fruit, also eggs, bacon and assorted cheeses.

Madden, who weighs around 260, has not missed many meals himself. But it has not dulled his sense of humor.

"John Robinson (Southern Cal coach) told me that the Rose Bowl field is bare and soft in the middle," Madden said. "Rain and dirt equals mud."

The equation pleased him. "But it's no advantage," he said. "You've got to play all elements."

Visiting the two camps three days before the championship showdown, one might have gotten the impression that Grant and Madden had gotten Don Rickles to write their lines.

Neither coach looked like a man ready to be led to slaughter. They ate a hearty meal. They quipped. Both were loose, radiating confidence.

The same attitude was reflected by the players, sitting as they did around circular tables bearing the same number as that on their jerseys.

Fran Tarkenton, No. 10, Minnesota's old pro, insisted that nothing was wrong with his throwing arm and scoffed at the suggestion that the Vikings, playing in their fourth Super Bowl and still without a victory, had a "losers' complex."

"Ridiculous," he said. "You don't get to the Super Bowl four times without winning the big games. I think Minnesota and Oakland are so closely matched that if they met seven times the result would be 4-3, one way or the other."

Coaches Shrug Off Bowl Rains

His quarterback counterpart, bearded Ken Stabler, sat at table No. 12 over at the Oakland area. "We are both frustrated teams, fired up," he said. "The team that makes fewest mistakes will win."

Milwaukee Bucks Top Buffalo Braves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There is a strange, new feeling in the camp of the Milwaukee Bucks — optimism.

"Basketball has become quite enjoyable lately," says forward Bob Dandridge.

The reason, of course, is that Milwaukee now is winning instead of losing. The Bucks, who had a miserable 4-25 record earlier this season, now have won seven of their last nine National Basketball Association games.

The latest was a 119-111 decision over the Buffalo Braves Thursday night, and the Bucks attribute their sudden success to an improved defense.

In the other NBA games, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Golden State Warriors 129-100 and the Indiana Pacers trimmed the Atlanta Hawks 103-95.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be asked to do a little extra, to change your plans. If it won't interfere with urgent considerations, be agreeable.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Personal relationships under excellent influences. Most persons will be highly congenial and you may even be the recipient of an unexpected gift.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Be prepared for a "touch" from someone you feel rather sorry for, but don't go overboard in giving. Generosity CAN be carried too far.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may have to sacrifice some personal desires for the benefit of others. But, in the long run, it will prove worthwhile.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid those who would try to pry information out of you. A slip of the tongue at the wrong moment could have serious repercussions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some changes in your life indicated. Be receptive: They will be for the better. During the P.M. you could meet someone important to your future.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't be distracted from obligations by the frivolous suggestions of others. Take time to relax only when you have earned it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A fine day for those who act courageously and who FIND the way to hurdle seemingly impossible obstacles. Not too difficult a task for one born under your Sign!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings and the Oakland Raiders won't be the only ones having at it this Super Bowl weekend.

NBC and CBS square off Saturday night in a battle of pregame comedy-variety specials.

This gets complicated, so maybe you'd better take notes.

CBS aired the Super Bowl last year and the night before the game put on a show called "Super Night at the Super Bowl." NBC has the game this year and decided it would also like the pregame variety show.

NBC asked the producer, Pierre Cossette, to ask CBS if it could borrow the title and concept. Perhaps they could alternate it, as they do the Super Bowl game. CBS said nothing doing, it was their idea and they wanted to keep it, especially since they air the game next year from the Superdome in New Orleans.

So NBC called on Norman Rosemont to come up with a show. He did. It's called "The Mad Mad Mad Mad World of the Super Bowl" — and it's up against the CBS show. I told you it was complicated.

"It tees me off a little because it was my idea to begin with," said Cossette, "but what're you going to do."

NBC's "Mad" show, at 9 p.m. EST, is all football-oriented comedy. The show was taped in a studio. CBS' "Super Night," at 9:30 p.m. EST, offers music, dancing and comedy live from outside the Rose Bowl.

"Most of the comics are really doing the attitude and style that made them famous," said Rosemont in a telephone interview from the NBC stage where he was taping the show.

"Take Pat Cooper. He always plays the angry Italian. He talks about his mother and how he visits her every Sunday. What we've done is make him a rabid football fan torn between seeing his mother or the game."

Norm Crosby, noted for his mixed-up words, tries to explain the game of football. Rodney Dangerfield is a coach who gets no respect from his players.

Cossette said his main concern with doing an outdoor live show is the weather. "I've subscribed to several forecast services, but they keep changing," he said. "We're going ahead regardless of the weather — just like the game."

Besides such stars as Andy Williams, Angie Dickinson, John Wayne and Don Rickles, Cossette has a number of pro ball players.

"I think you're going to see more event programming like this," he said. "We're going to do 'Super Night at Forest Hills' for the tennis matches. I see a lot in the future for this kind of concept, tying sports in with entertainment. They're getting closer and closer all the time."

"Sports stars are getting just like show business stars, with their own agents and deals," he said.

Firearm Show

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — An exhibition of 94 European firearms, part of the collection of Clay P. Bedford of Scottsdale, Ariz., will be on display here at the 1977 Antiques Forum through March 7.

The arms date from the early 16th to mid-19th century. An illustrated book on the firearms will be published by The Colonial Williamsburg Foundation for distribution during the exhibit.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE
What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be asked to do a little extra, to change your plans. If it won't interfere with urgent considerations, be agreeable.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Personal relationships under excellent influences. Most persons will be highly congenial and you may even be the recipient of an unexpected gift.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Be prepared for a "touch" from someone you feel rather sorry for, but don't go overboard in giving. Generosity CAN be carried too far.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may have to sacrifice some personal desires for the benefit of others. But, in the long run, it will prove worthwhile.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid those who would try to pry information out of you. A slip of the tongue at the wrong moment could have serious repercussions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some changes in your life indicated. Be receptive: They will be for the better. During the P.M. you could meet someone important to your future.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't be distracted from obligations by the frivolous suggestions of others. Take time to relax only when you have earned it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A fine day for those who act courageously and who FIND the way to hurdle seemingly impossible obstacles. Not too difficult a task for one born under your Sign!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Meet as many people as you can now — studying them objectively and listening to all points of view. You will not only enjoy the contacts, but widen your mental horizons considerably.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Do not be swayed by your emotions. Objectivity will bring you a clearer view of all situations. Get in some advance planning for next week's activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your capacity for recognizing the plights of others can be excellently deployed now. Do all in your power to assuage distress, inspire others to constructive optimism.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Look well into proposed suggestions, or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

YOU BORN TODAY are a Capricornian, thus independence, energy, progressiveness and practicality are your most outstanding qualities. You are endowed with a fine intellect and a keen wit which, unfortunately, you sometimes use too sharply, blighting others with biting sarcasm. Try to curb this trait, since it alienates those who could be invaluable friends otherwise. You acquire knowledge readily and always strive for top achievement in whatever your career. Many artists, writers, archeologists and scientists have been born under Capricorn. Birthdate of: Peter Arno, cartoonist, painter; Elvis Presley, singer.

Illinois Routs OSU: Statistics Tell Story

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lou Henson, Illinois' basketball coach, gazed at a statistics sheet showing the Illini's 89-72 rout of Ohio State Thursday night and shook his head.

"We have good shooters," he said, "but even good shooters don't have nights like that. We played an exceptional game."

The Illini had just carved up the Buckeyes in a Big Ten opener with 84.6 per cent shooting in the first half and 69 per cent for the game.

"We sure got run over," said Ohio State's Eldon Miller, getting a rude baptism in his conference coaching debut. "We've got to figure out a way to stop people, to try different defenses."

Neither Illinois, 9-4, nor Ohio State, 5-5, will have any time to reflect.

Both face major Big Ten obstacles Saturday, the Illini visiting defending champion Indiana and the Buckeyes facing Purdue in a regionally televised afternoon contest.

Purdue walloped host Indiana 80-63 and Miller said, "They have great personnel. Walt Jordan (Purdue's top scorer) is a great player."

Henson realized he had beaten short, nonphysical Ohio State and said, "We are developing. We may not be able to beat a big team. The Big Ten is much better."

Audie Matthews, a 6-foot-5 guard, led the rout, sinking seven of 12 floor shots and 14 of 15 foul shots for a game-high 28 points. Henson called it Matthews' best game.

Matthews had 18 first-half points, misfiring on only one of six shots. By that time, Illinois was riding a 53-38 bulge, atoning for a loss in Columbus last winter.

All five Illini starters reached double figures. Levi Cobb had 18, Rich Adams 16, Ken Ferdinand 13 and Steve Lanter 10.

The Buckeyes had no one to match Matthews with 6-1 freshman Kelvin Ransey the closest with 15. Jim Ellinghausen, another freshman, and senior Larry Bolden had 10 apiece.

Miller refused to be shaken by the wallowing, saying, "We're a better team than we showed tonight. I think it will show up in the future. We'll live to play another day."

In other college basketball action around the state, Muskingum easily won its Ohio Conference opener 83-70 over Ohio Wesleyan as Marvin Smalley scored 18 points and Larry Hall added 17.

Wilmington snapped a threegame losing streak by beating Hoosier-Buckeye Conference foe Bluffton 78-73 as Tim Wilson poured in 33 points and pulled down 18 rebounds.

Ohio Dominican squeaked past Mount Vernon Nazarene 58-57 in a Mid-Ohio Conference contest.

Ashland finally broke loose for a 9-2 scoring spurt in the closing minutes to notch a 59-50 triumph over Franklin & Marshall, Pa., in a non-conference game. Jojo McRae scored 19 points for the winners.

U. Of Cincinnati To Continue Football

CINCINNATI (AP) — University of Cincinnati President Dr. Warren Bennis said he has no intention of recommending an end to the football program but said the $300,000 deficit must be reduced.

The football program losses came under fire by faculty and students which passed resolutions last month to abolish the sport which had disappointing attendance despite a 9-2 record.

Bennis, in a prepared statement in a campus newsletter, said, "I do not have any intention of recommending that the intercollegiate college football program be discontinued or downgraded.

Swaybacked Hotel Poses Problem

KETTLE FALLS, Minn. (AP) — As if the new Carter administration didn't have enough to worry about, now comes The Great Kettle Falls Hotel Crisis.

"I'm glad it's the government's problem and not mine," said Mike Williams, balancing atop the bulge on the barroom floor.

"What makes it all the more complicated," he said, lurching down one end of a swayback hallway and up the other, "these damned bumps and sags are one reason they made this old place a national shrine."

"It would be a shame," he said with obvious bias, an apt word, "if they flattened it out."

The reason it is the government's problem is because the Kettle Falls Hotel, which has been in Mike Williams's family for three generations, is on a tiny island in an exquisite wilderness of lakes and woodland on the Canadian border which has become Voyageurs National Park.

Last year the hotel was entered in the National Registry of Historic Places and the park services soon will take ownership, though the Williamses will continue to run it.

"It's going to take a lot of money to keep the thing from falling down," Mike Williams said. "They're going to have to jack the whole building up — the floor joists are starting to rot — and put some kind of foundation under it."

"That was the trouble. The person who built it back in 1913, a guy named Ed Rose, didn't put a foundation under it. Over the years it has just settled down onto the contours of the land."

Which makes the Kettle Falls Hotel perhaps the only building exant that could be mapped topographically, the contours of the land being roughly akin to those of the Adirondacks.

Its undulating charm may indeed be one reason for the hotel's selection as a national shrine, but not the only one. The clapboard walls of this crooked old relic reek with the swashbuckling history of this remote area.

The hotel sits — slumps — on a small island at the head of Rainy Lake, a water highway for the beaver-trapping voyageurs who opened up this spectacular piece of geography. They portaged their bark canoes over the falls here which tumbled into the lake.

Later, when lumberjacks invaded these parts to carve their own Bunyanesque niche in history, the falls were dammed so that great log drives could be sluiced over. One memorable drive lasted five years.

"Can you imagine what this place was like when a couple of hundred lumberjacks got paid?" said Mike Williams, his red mustache twitching evilly.

"But it wasn't a brothel. That's all a rumor. I've heard tales of how there were 500 girls here. It just wasn't so. My grandfather told me he had only one woman here for that purpose."

Henson realized he had beaten short, nonphysical Ohio State and said, "We are developing. We may not be able to beat a big team. The Big Ten is much better."

Audie Matthews, a 6-foot-5 guard, led the rout, sinking seven of 12 floor shots and 14 of 15 foul shots for a game-high 28 points. Henson called it Matthews' best game.

Matthews had 18 first-half points, misfiring on only one of six shots. By that time, Illinois was riding a 53-38 bulge, atoning for a loss in Columbus last winter.

All five Illini starters reached double figures. Levi Cobb had 18, Rich Adams 16, Ken Ferdinand 13 and Steve Lanter 10.

The Buckeyes had no one to match Matthews with 6-1 freshman Kelvin Ransey the closest with 15. Jim Ellinghausen, another freshman, and senior Larry Bolden had 10 apiece.

Miller refused to be shaken by the walloping, saying, "We're a better team than we showed tonight. I think it will show up in the future. We'll live to play another day."

In other college basketball action around the state, Muskingum easily won its Ohio Conference opener 83-70 over Ohio Wesleyan as Marvin Smalley scored 18 points and Larry Hall added 17.

Wilmington snapped a threegame losing streak by beating Hoosier-Buckeye Conference foe Bluffton 78-73 as Tim Wilson poured in 33 points and pulled down 18 rebounds.

Ohio Dominican squeaked past Mount Vernon Nazarene 58-57 in a Mid-Ohio Conference contest.

Ashland finally broke loose for a 9-2 scoring spurt in the closing minutes to notch a 59-50 triumph over Franklin & Marshall, Pa., in a non-conference game. Jojo McRae scored 19 points for the winners.

U. Of Cincinnati To Continue Football

CINCINNATI (AP) — University of Cincinnati President Dr. Warren Bennis said he has no intention of recommending an end to the football program but said the $300,000 deficit must be reduced.

The football program losses came under fire by faculty and students which passed resolutions last month to abolish the sport which had disappointing attendance despite a 9-2 record.

Bennis, in a prepared statement in a campus newsletter, said, "I do not have any intention of recommending that the intercollegiate college football program be discontinued or downgraded.

Swaybacked Hotel Poses Problem

KETTLE FALLS, Minn. (AP) — As if the new Carter administration didn't have enough to worry about, now comes The Great Kettle Falls Hotel Crisis.

"I'm glad it's the government's problem and not mine," said Mike Williams, balancing atop the bulge on the barroom floor.

"What makes it all the more complicated," he said, lurching down one end of a swayback hallway and up the other, "these damned bumps and sags are one reason they made this old place a national shrine.

"It would be a shame," he said with obvious bias, an apt word, "if they flattened it out."

The reason it is the government's problem is because the Kettle Falls Hotel, which has been in Mike Williams's family for three generations, is on a tiny island in an exquisite wilderness of lakes and woodland on the Canadian border which has become Voyageurs National Park.

Last year the hotel was entered in the National Registry of Historic Places and the park services soon will take ownership, though the Williamses will continue to run it.

"It's going to take a lot of money to keep the thing from falling down," Mike Williams said. "They're going to have to jack the whole building up — the floor joists are starting to rot — and put some kind of foundation under it.

"That was the trouble. The person who built it back in 1913, a guy named Ed Rose, didn't put a foundation under it. Over the years it has just settled down onto the contours of the land."

Which makes the Kettle Falls Hotel perhaps the only building extant that could be mapped topographically, the contours of the land being roughly akin to those of the Adirondacks.

Its undulating charm may indeed be one reason for the hotel's selection as a national shrine, but not the only one. The clapboard walls of this crooked old relic reek with the swashbuckling history of this remote area.

The hotel sits — slumps — on a small island at the head of Rainy Lake, a water highway for the beaver-trapping voyageurs who opened up this spectacular piece of geography. They portaged their bark canoes over the falls here which tumbled into the lake.

Later, when lumberjacks invaded these parts to carve their own Bunyanesque niche in history, the falls were dammed so that great log drives could be sluiced over. One memorable drive lasted five years.

"Can you imagine what this place was like when a couple of hundred lumberjacks got paid?" said Mike Williams, his red mustache twitching evilly.

"But it wasn't a brothel. That's all a rumor. I've heard tales of how there were 500 girls here. It just wasn't so. My grandfather told me he had only one woman here for that purpose."

Changes In Tax Rules Seen Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Americans may find themselves unexpectedly owing money to Uncle Sam on 1976 income taxes because Congress last year changed the rules on sick pay and income earned overseas.

At the same time, Congress put off the effective date for two tax-saving benefits so that eligible taxpayers will have to wait until they file their 1977 income taxes.

The congressional decisions were prompted by the desire to raise more revenues to meet federal budget goals.

In the case of sick pay and foreign income, the law enacted Oct. 4 was made retroactive to Jan. 1. Thus, taxes will have to be paid on such income for the entire year.

The same law also gave some taxpayers a break by making it easier to take a deduction for alimony payments and giving a larger deduction for moving expenses. But Congress put off the effective date of these benefits until this Jan. 1 and they cannot be taken advantage of until 1977 tax forms are filled out in 1978.

The new law on sick pay requires a person to be totally disabled — unable to work at any job — before he or she can exclude up to $100 a week in disability payments from income.

The foreign income change generally means that all income over $15,000 earned overseas is subject to tax instead of the $20,000 to $25,000 exclusion of previous law.

For 1974, the last year for which the IRS has figures, $1.4 billion in sick pay was claimed on 1,354,000 returns. Another 125,808 returns claimed an exclusion of $1.8 million in foreign income.

The IRS said it had no estimate on how many taxpayers would still be eligible for the more stringent sick pay exclusion under the new law, but a spokesman said the number would be far fewer than in previous years. Most taxpayers working and earning money abroad will be affected by the lower foreign income exclusion.

"Our son fixes digital computers for the Navy and pop-up toasters for me."

Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Ellisville, Missouri.

"Our son is a Data Systems Technician. The Navy taught him how to remove computer circuits and repair them. But I can't wait till he comes home on leave," says Mrs. Johnson. "All that training comes in very handy."

If your son is good at fixing up his stereo or if he knows his way around the wiring in your appliances, he may be eligible for about $17,000 worth of advanced technical training in electronics. And it won't cost you a cent.

Jury Finds Man Guilty

A jury of 12 deliberated 2½ hours before returning guilty verdicts against Jerry Lynn Lewis, 143 E. Third Ave., Columbus.

He was found guilty of breaking and entering, vandalism, and two counts of petty theft in connection with the Sept. 22 break-in of the Sperry-New Holland Company offices, Route 23, theft of money from a soft drink machine, and theft of a digital clock radio.

Three other defendants have been indicted for the same crimes. Two are awaiting trial and one has not been apprehended.

Judge William Ammer, who presided over the Thursday case in Common Pleas Court, deferred sentencing on Lewis, who had pled not guilty to all charges.

Bond was set at $5,000 by Judge Ammer, and Lewis was remanded to custody in default of bond. He is apparently awaiting sentencing in Franklin County on a theft offense.

Lewis was represented by John H. Farthing, while Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney James Kingsley represented the State of Ohio.

Members of the jury were Bonnie Lee Neff, Ruth M. Moffitt, David M. Mosley, Helen L. Good, David H. Huffer, Georgia E. Sealock, Anita L. Rowland, Loring J. Allen Jr., Martin D. Minnich, Dorothy M. Huston, John T. Reber Jr., and Michael R. Gilmore. Alternate was Georgia M. Hutchison.

Wheat Bins Filling Up

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Experts say wheat storage bins are filling rapidly, and they worry over whether there's room for the upcoming harvest.

"Kansas is full. Nebraska is full. Everybody is full," said Leonard Edwards, vice president of grain marketing with Union Equity in Enid, Okla.

"I don't want to scare a bunch of farmers to death, but I think they should be alerted there could be problems," Edwards said.

Don Dudley, a spokesman for the Oklahoma Wheat Commission, said, "we've always had plenty of wheat stored, but never can I recall this much on hand the first week of January."

Dudley said the surplus problems are a result of bumper crops worldwide creating less demand for American wheat, plus the U.S. being underbid by foreign competitors.

Low wheat prices have also prompted farmers to store their wheat, in hopes that prices will rise.

Dudley predicted that space shortages may cause many farmers to consider on-farm storage, along with the possibility that much of the coming harvest will need to be temporarily stored on the ground.
